President Before Congress

Speaking from the rostrum of the House of Representatives, President Harry S. Truman today outlined to Congress the aims of his Administration and pledged himself to carry out the war and peace policies of his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

7 Mi. to Czech Border for 3d

By JAMES M. LONG

PARIS, April 16 (AP)—Third Army infantry advanced to within seven miles of Czechoslovakia today and virtually bisected Germany, whose western front already has been split into northern and southern commands. The Germans rushed troops and tanks from the eastern front and Berlin to oppose the grave threat to their ruined capital, 45 miles from Ninth Army elements north of Magdeburg.

Three Nazi divisions stamped out the original Elbe river bridgehead at Magdeburg, but another east bank salient at Barby was deepened five miles to within 52 miles of Berlin on the open Brandenburg plain.

Some 3000 Germans were surrendered by their commander in the eastern segment of the severed Ruhr pocket. Correspondent Don Whitehead said there was "the strongest possibility both sections of the Ruhr pocket will be liquidated today."

The Allies took 66,191 prisoners yesterday for an April total of 614,264. The prize of the lot was the Panzer Lehr (First German Armored) Division, its commander and his staff, which surrendered in the Ruhr trap. It was one of the toughest remaining divisions in the German army.

Already 146,349 German prisoners have been counted from the Ruhr and hundreds more were filing to prison cages from the great industrial region.

The British opened an assault on Bremen and moved to within two and a half miles of that port. The U. S. Third besieged the big Saxony center of Chemnitz from the same distance, while the First Army tightened its grip on Leipzig and cleared the northern third of Halle, and fought within two miles of Dessau, 52 miles southwest of Berlin.

Canadians and Poles reached the North Sea within five miles of Emden, pocketing perhaps 200,000 Germans. The First and Ninth Armies formed another 250-square-mile trap in the Harz mountains.

Third Army troops were 75 miles or so from Russian lines southeast of Berlin and the enemy said a junction was imminent. The German communique said Americans broke into the western section of Chemnitz but were driven out.

The American Seventh Army sent five divisions against Nuernberg, crashing to within eight miles of that Nazi citadel and within 160 miles of Hitler's mountain residence at Berchtesgaden, nerve center of the German national redoubt. Troops nearing Nuernberg were 97 miles from Munich.

Germany was all but split in two when Lt. Gen. Patton's men captured Hof, a road center eight miles from the Czech border and 76 miles from the Skoda munitions works in Pilsen.

Farther south, the American Seventh Army beat with five divisions to within eight miles of the Nazi citadel of Nuernberg and the French advanced on the upper Rhine plain

WESTERN FRONT—Allied armies today chewed new holes in Hitler's dwindling Reich. The U. S. Third (3) spurted closer to the Czech border, capturing Hof, only eight miles distant, while other Yanks (2) crossed the Mulde river and closed in on both Leipzig and Chemnitz. To the north, a great battle raged near Magdeburg (1), where units of the U. S. Ninth earlier had suffered their first setback in weeks. AP Wirephoto Map

New B-29 Fires Sweep Tokyo

By Associated Press

Four hundred Superfortresses put the torch to Tokyo again today before it had a chance to cool off from last Saturday's holocaust while, the Japs said, carrier and land-based American aircraft made their second successive joint raid on Japan.

Yank amphibious troops scooped up four more small islands—one near Okinawa and three in the Philippines. Ground forces broke up repeated Jap counterattacks on Okinawa and closed in from three directions on Baguio, Jap military headquarters in the Philippines.

The Jap death toll for the Philippines campaign was raised to 323,000, approximately 10 times the announced U. S. casualties.

Still blazing fires guided B-29 pilots to Tokyo on their latest attack, which began before midnight and continued into the early morning hours. Kawasaki, industrial suburb and Japan's ninth largest city, was also left burning.

In Saturday's raid 10¾ square miles of Tokyo's arsenal area were burned out. Six of the 400 Superforts failed to return. This makes 27½ square miles of industrial Tokyo blasted out in two big incendiary raids. Forty-three and a half square miles in four of Japan's largest cities—Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and Kobe have been destroyed.

Today's raiders flew through "terrific flak" and active night fighter interception to hit the southeast section of the capital.

(In Washington, the 20th Airforce reported that 11 B-29s were missing from the latest raid but said that some of them might turn up later. This would represent one of the higher loss figures for Superfortress attacks, but the size of the force, presumably up to 400 planes, made the percentage of loss low.

Nazi Snipers Bring Ruin On Own Towns—Lake

By AUSTEN LAKE

FOURTH ARMORED SPEARHEAD (Delayed)—We rolled forward again in the first light of dawn. "The big parade," the men of Combat Command B call their long caravan of armor. It plows ahead in an erratic furrow. It sows dragons' teeth and reaps a harvest of havoc. So it was again today, a trail of burning towns and tearful people. Its effect is like a galloping paralysis.

Tonight we are 20-odd miles deeper into the Nazi inner vitals, a day nearer the approaching end.

The people of this suburban town beyond Weimar—it is Groos-kramsdorf—do not realize how lucky they are to be spared the wreckage of its sister villages in our wake here. Happily for them, they fired no shots as we wound into a valley at twilight. For these tank soldiers and halftrack gunners and cannoneers are extremely trigger-itchy and quick to retort violently to any hostile act.

It was so this morning at Gispersleben and again at Kleinonolson and at Daasdorf. Misguided persons, perhaps SS troops who bear the blame for every mischievous act in this guerilla warfare, sniped with rifles and bazookas as we approached.

Result—the column went in at top speed, shooting everything in sight, chewing great holes out of houses, like a child bites half-moons in a cookie.

Ours is no tourist view of Germany, although we are seeing the inner heart of the country at an ideal period of the year.

Apple orchards dressed in filmy white, the air filled with a heady tonic of spring, the chikalink of field birds, sprouting greens in fields, smiling skies, a sort of poesy—to us it passes in a slow blur. There is no poetry in our hearts.

There was a lovely valley with a wooded hill crown at a little distance where German snipers potted at our caravan from hiding places among the bushes. You could hear a swift rattle of their burp guns and scattered fire of rifles, and see whizzing tracers.

An infantryman on a tank immediately ahead of our vehicle slumped on the steel deck and was caught by his mates as he fell.

One of the boys on that tank was Pvt. Robert Smith, 18, of 7 Smith ct, Newport, R. I., overseas less than a week and under his first fire.

Another was PFC Louis A. Gaucher, 26 Fletcher st., Whitinsville, a youth engaged to Susan Shamshoain.

Neither of these boys was hurt.

The column did not pause to frisk the woods, merely turtling on and firing saturation bursts into the pine forest. It put the men in a sour mood, and they riddled every suspicious outhouse, barn and other buildings in the neighborhood.

One could see the dust kick as bullets passed through buildings and set them smouldering with whisps of milky smoke that turned gradually into clouds and creeping flame.

If only these folk of inner Germany would realize that further armed resistance signs their warrant of death and destruction. Most do, but a rabid minority still under Hitler's hypnotic spell fights foolishly on.

So tanks fired salvo after salvo into Daasdorf where Nazi guns were cunningly screened, and laid down a pattern of mortar fire and shells.

At such times, sections behind the combat head of the column disperse in open field or byways of towns as long as action rages. They are in reserve till needed.

There is something impersonal about tank action. Battle is only regarded as an affair of those men engaged. The rest show

U. S. 5th Joins British 8th Drive in Italy

ROME, April 16 (INS)—A powerful spring offensive by Allied armies in Italy was launched today when the American Fifth Army went over to the attack, co-ordinating its drive with the previously launched British Eighth Army push.

The main weight of the new offensive appeared to have been thrown in the direction of Bologna.

The attack was preceded by the greatest air blow in the history of the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces, all concentrated on the approaches to Bologna.

The 15th U. S. Air Force sent out 1233 heavy bombers. They unloaded 2374 tons of high explosives.

3500 Planes Rip Reich Rail Yards

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—More than 3500 Allied warplanes scoured Germany from Berlin to ROegensburg in Bavaria today, hitting at least 15 railways and bridges along routes through which the Nazis are straining to get supplies into southern Germany.

Some 750 U. S. Eighth Air Force heavy bombers hit the Regensburg area, striking at rail junctions, bridges and airfields in front of Hitler's mountain redoubt, while more than 850 U. S. Ninth Air Force medium bombers ripped similar targets in central Germany and Czechoslovakia.

Jet Plane Plant 900 Ft. in Cave

TARTHUN, Germany, April 16 (AP)—A German factory producing 600-mile-an-hour jet fighter planes was discovered 900 feet underground in an innocent-looking salt mine by U. S. Second Armored Division tankmen.

The plant, with installations valued at $10,000,000, had recently started production with 120 planes a month, which was being stepped up toward a monthly capacity of 700 planes.

Reds Gain on Berlin Front

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—The German High Command announced today that the Russians had launched their long awaited large-scale offensive from the east side of the German waist at Berlin.

Earlier Berlin broadcasts had made similar announcements, but this was the first confirmation by the formal communique, which usually proves more accurate than the German news services.

The High Command declared the big Soviet steamroller swung into action along a 60-mile front from the mouth of the Neisse, southeast of Berlin, to the Oderbruch, a low plain on the west bank of the Oder northeast of Berlin.

"Bitter fighting is in progress on the entire front," said Berlin's war bulletin.

German broadcast reported a new bridgehead across the Oder had been forged in the first hours of the offensive in the Schwedt area, 30 miles south of Stettin and 44 miles northeast of Berlin.

The Russians were reported attacking close to Wriezen, 24 miles northeast of Berlin and 91 miles from the American Ninth Army on the Elbe at Tangermuende.

Southeast of Berlin, a Transocean broadcast said, the Russians lashed out in the Fuerstenberg area on the Oder toward Beeskow, 27 miles from the capital and 87 miles from American forces attacking in the Dessau area.

Carry On to Full Victory, Truman Plea

PRESIDENT AND MRS. HARRY S. TRUMAN
The President and First Lady Arrive at the White House

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman called upon the nation for complete unity today in whipping the Axis into unconditional surrender and in building a strong United Nations organization for peace. Speaking only one day after the burial of Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Truman paid high tribute to his predecessor.

"Tragic fate has thrust upon us grave responsibilities," he said. "We must carry on.

"Our devoted leader never looked backward. He looked forward and moved forward. That is what he would want us to do.

"That is what America will do."

In his first address to a joint session of Congress—and to America and the world by radio—the new President:

Pledged the United States to continue the "fight for freedom" until the unconditional surrender of Germany and Japan.

Declared the grand strategy of the war must continue "unchanged and unhampered" under the military commanders now in charge.

Promised punishment for war criminals "even though we must pursue them to the ends of the earth."

Pledged his personal support to the ideals of peace and progress "so eloquently proclaimed by Franklin Roosevelt," and called upon the nation to unite in their defense.

Declared that the great nations which mustered the force to defeat the Fascist conspiracy must continue to co-operate in peace—"The responsibility of the great states is to serve and not dominate the peoples of the world."

Appealed for support in building "a strong and lasting United Nations organization" at the San Francisco conference for mastering the problems of peace through the triumph of justice.

Promised continued efforts toward a better social order "to improve the lot of the common people."

Asserted America will never forget the sacrifices of the men and women in the armed services.

The President and Mrs. Truman reached the Capitol at 12:27 p. m. and were met by their daughter, Mary Margaret.

They went immediately to the office of Speaker Rayburn where the President waited for the formal Senate-House committee to escort him into the House chamber to deliver his message.

Also in Rayburn's office was Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, with whom the President conferred earlier in the day at the White House. He had invited Eden to hear his speech.

The 6-minute ride from the White House to the Capitol was through streets virtually empty for blocks at a stretch.

The 8-car procession, included press cars and those of the Secret Service. In one were Ed McKim, Omaha, Neb., insurance executive, and a member of Truman's artillery division in the First World War; Matt Connelley, his executive assistant as Vice-President, and stenographers from his old Capitol office.

A misty drizzle fell as the cars traveled down Constitution ave. Saturday the funeral procession of Franklin D. Roosevelt had moved up this same avenue to the White House.

Sens. Barkley of Kentucky, White of Maine and George of Georgia and Reps. McCormack and Martin of Massachusetts and Doughton of North Carolina were on the committee named to escort the President into the chamber.

In the House, the customary cluster of microphones was arranged on the speaker's table. On March 1, Mr. Truman as Vice-President sat in one of the presiding chairs behind this table to hear President Roosevelt report on the Yalta conference with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

Today he spoke at once of "the tremendous void" left by Mr. Roosevelt's death and his own "grave responsibilities." Before him on the floor were assembled his former colleagues in the Senate and members of the House.

Full Text Of Address

WASHINGTON, April 10 (INS)—The complete text of President Truman's address:

It is with heavy heart that I stand before you, my friends and colleagues, in the Congress of the United States.

Only yesterday, we laid to rest the mortal remains of our beloved President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. At a time like this, words are inadequate. The most eloquent tribute would be a reverent silence.

Yet, in this decisive hour, when world events are moving so rapidly, our silence might be misunderstood and might give comfort to our enemies.

In His infinite wisdom, Almighty God has seen fit to take from us a great man who loved,

Molotov Accepts Truman Bid to White House

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Russian Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov will visit President Truman at the White House en route to the San Francisco World Security Conference, the Moscow radio announced today.

The broadcast declared Marshal Stalin's decision to send Molotov to San Francisco was a direct result of Truman's invitation.

"Despite difficulties arising through Comrade Molotov's absence from Moscow in connection with the forthcoming session of the supreme Soviet, the government—in view of the circumstances set forth—has accepted the invitation," the Kremlin said.

Stalin's decision was acclaimed in London diplomatic circles as the British press praised President Truman for a statesmanlike act in making a direct bid for Molotov's attendance.

The general view here was that the development had enhanced the outlook for the impending world security conference and that any decisions reached there would carry a weight which they would not have had otherwise.

Some observers saw in Stalin's decision a hint that agreement on the vexing Polish problem was near—arguing he would not have consented to have Molotov go to San Francisco unless he were sure a Polish delegation would be present.

Huge Nazi Gun Plant Captured

WITH NINTH ARMY, April 16 (AP)—The U. S. 30th Infantry Division has captured a German army proving ground—the equivalent of the Aberdeen, Md., proving ground—with more than 2000 artillery pieces.

Many of the field pieces in this rich war prize were of types never seen before by American military men. Some were giant guns far greater than any yet used by the enemy on the Western Front and apparently were of experimental design.

The proving ground is at Wolmirsted, six miles north of Magdeburg.

It will take weeks for American and British ordnance experts to complete examination of the weapons.

Eden Hands Churchill Note To Truman

WASHINGTON, April 16 (INS)—Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, today personally delivered messages to President Truman from Prime Minister Churchill.

Eden was accompanied to the executive mansion by Lord Halifax, British ambassador, and Secretary of State Stettinius.

Leaving the White House after a 20-minute conference, Eden said:

"I am very pleased to have had the privilege to call on the President and very grateful that he has found the time to see me on this day when he has so important a speech to deliver.

"Naturally, I brought him messages from the prime minister and told him how grateful we are at the very close relationship that now exists between us."

F. D. Memorial

WASHINGTON, April 16 (INS)—A memorial to Franklin D. Roosevelt, comparable to those erected to Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln was urged today in a Senate resolution by Sen. Olin Johnston (D.) of South Carolina.

Irving Berlin's New War Song

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Irving Berlin came home today from a three months' tour in the Pacific war areas with a new song, a serviceman's lament to be home again, don a blue serge suit, have breakfast in bed and date a girl wearing a dress—not a uniform.

A chorus of the tune, titled, "Oh, to Be Home Again," goes:

"Oh, to be home again, across the foam again, and be home again,

"Just one morning, pounding my head, just one breakfast, served in my bed,

"Oh, to emerge again, in blue serge again, for a splurge again,

"To spend a week off your feet, with a napkin and a sheet,

"Oh, how I long to be home."

6 Cabinet Shifts Due in 6 Months

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, April 16 (INS)—Highest political circles in Washington are convinced today that President Truman will completely reorganize the federal administration in due time without giving offense to the memory of his beloved chief, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A major shakeup of the cabinet is certain.

The new President's first important appointment, his friends say, will be the choice of John Wesley Snyder, St. Paul banker and former head of the Defense Plant Corp., as federal loan administrator. Snyder may be named this week to take charge of the vast federal lending agencies that Jesse Jones managed before being "fired" to make room for Henry A. Wallace as Secretary of Commerce.

The cabinet shakeup will come gradually. There will be no immediate changes. Each change Mr. Truman makes will come in an orderly manner so as to prevent any disturbance to the war effort or home front economy.

One of Mr. Truman's closest friends told International News Service:

"It will be at least six in six—six cabinet changes in six months."

The changes contemplated by the President, this friend said, are intended not so much a replace New Dealers with deserving Democrats as to give notice to the world that the power of the Frankfurter-Hopkins-Rose n m a n clique has ended in Washington. He referred to the group of the late President's advisers led by Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, Presidential Adviser Harry L. Hopkins and Presidential Attorney Samuel Rosenman.

Hopkins and Rosenman already have submitted their resignations to Mr. Truman. They will be accepted.

The cabinet officers whose departure is expected eventually are:

1, Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius; 2, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr.; 3, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson; 4, Atty.-Gen. Francis Biddle; 5, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and, 6, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins.

Rumors persisted in Washington over the week-end that Secretary Stimson had already resigned to President Roosevelt, effective today. If this is true, he will be asked to remain at least until after Germany is defeated.

There is terrific speculation in Washington over cabinet replacements.

It seems apparent that James F. Byrnes, former "assistant president" to Mr. Roosevelt, is Mr. Truman's choice to replace Stettinius as Secretary of State, but not until after the San Francisco conferences—and probably not until after its treaty is ratified by the Senate.

Byrnes reportedly was promised the post by Mr. Roosevelt before it went unexpectedly to Stettinius upon retirement of Cordell Hull.

Byrnes is advising Mr. Truman on foreign affairs. He will represent the President personally at the San Francisco parley.

Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, chairman of the Senate finance committee, tops the list of possibilities as Secretary of the Treasury.

Hugh A. Fulton, New York attorney, is regarded as a "cinch" for Attorney General. Fulton was Mr. Truman's choice as chief counsel for his Senate committee which investigated the war effort. Fulton, a former assistant Attorney General, has been at Mr. Truman's side since he assumed the Presidency.

Smoke Bomb

Thick smoke covered a quarter-mile area of Winthrop today after a smoke bomb, which a group of boys found near Ft. Banks, exploded after they threw it into the old Narrow Gauge railway excavation.

Police learned the boys had been playing catch with the bomb for half an hour before they tossed it away.

It exploded with such force that one of the boys was knocked to the ground. Dense clouds of smoke filled the air and spread through the area. When firemen arrived the frightened boys had fled. Police are seeking them for questioning.

New First Lady Sets Press Date

WASHINGTON, April 16 (INS)—The White House announced today that Mrs. Harry S. Truman, the new First Lady, will hold a news conference tomorrow afternoon.

Tomorrow's news conference, for women reporters only, is scheduled for 2 p. m. (EWT) at the Blair House, where the Trumans will live until moving into the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt established the practice of the First Lady holding news conferences in the early days of her husband's administration. It is believed Mrs. Truman may follow a similar course.

SLAIN—Mrs. Mary Faulkner, 25-year-old wife of a sailor serving in the Pacific, was machine-gunned to death in a Philadelphia apartment when cops descended on her pal—an ex-convict. Latter also was killed.

'Tack' Hardwick Loses Will Plea

Huntington "Tack" Hardwick, former Harvard football star, today lost his fight to break the $100,000 will of his cousin, Mrs. Mary H. Davenport, Milton widow, who died May 25, 1944, and did not include him in her bequests.

Judge James F. Reynolds of Dedham Probate Court, where the contest was aired for a week, allowed the will as it was filed, finding Hardwick had not proved his charges that Mrs. Davenport was of unsound mind when she executed the will and had been unduly influenced by her executor. The latter was G. Howard Allen, manager of the First Boston Corp.

The bulk of the estate will go to a step-daughter, Gretchen D. Curry of Woodbury, N. J. The will leaves $3000 to charity, $10,500 to friends and $10,000 as a trust fund for Florence Williams of Adams st., Milton. It also leaves the furnishings of Mrs. Davenport's home to the executor, Allen.

Unified N. E. Rail Line Urged

A consolidated New England railroad, owned and controlled by New England interests was proposed today by Atty. Bentley Warren.

The president of the Boston and Providence Railroad Co. charged that the "strangle hold" of the New Haven Railroad over the Boston and Maine was "injurious to the general public."

Warren spoke at a continued public hearing before the legislative transportation committee on bills, calling for dissolution of the Boston Railroad Holding Co. This company, Bentley asserted, is the device which gives the New Haven road control over the B. and M.

Stokowski Under Reno Doctor's Care

RENO, Nev., April 16 (AP)—Dr. G. O. Bradley, Reno physician, said today he had treated a patient, whom he said he recognized as Orchestra Coductor Leopold Stokowski, for neuritis.

Dr. Bradley said the airment did not appear to be severe. Stokowski arrived last week and was met by Gloria Vanderbilt de Cicco, 21-year-old heiress, in Nevada to divorce Pasqual (Pat) de Cicco of Hollywood.

Tobin Proclaims Patriots' Day

Gov. Tobin today issued a proclamation setting Thursday, April 19, as Patriots' Day, the 170th anniversary of the battles of Lexington and Concord.

Home Folks Know Truman As Warrior on Debt, Graft

This is the first of a series depicting President Truman as his home state of Missouri knows him. The author, George K. Wallace, chief Missouri political writer of the Kansas City Star, has known Truman since his advent into politics.

By GEORGE K. WALLACE
Political Writer, Kansas City Star

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 16 (AP)—"It isn't business and it isn't politics to run this county into debt and I want it stopped. I want it to be made a felony to spend money the county hasn't on hand."

That is the earliest known political philosophy of President Harry S. Truman. He said it at a political rally and picnic in August, 1922, when he was seeking elective office for the first time—the Democratic nomination for county judge of Jackson County.

"I want men for road overseers who know roads and who want to work—men who will do a day's work for a day's pay, who will work for the county as they would for themselves.

"I would rather have 40 men for overseers who are willing to work than to have 60 politicians who care nothing about work. I believe that honest work for the county is the best politics anyway."

The Truman family had been rooted in Jackson county for a century, and Truman 40 years ago was an industrious, serious but friendly young fellow who knew all his neighbors around Grandview, where the original 600-acre Truman farm was located, and Independence, the Truman home.

The files of the Kansas City Star hold a mass of clippings showing that Truman, during his tenure on the county court, harped day and night about cutting taxes, and preached constantly the theory of economy and valu received in governmental expense as in business.

"Cost of government," he told the Kansas City Citizen's League on Dec. 8, 1931, "can be cut only by eliminating some services, equalizing the burden and doing it scientifically. It is an economic problem and must be handled in an economic manner."

Truman's constant theme was budget the expense and spend the money only after receipt. He strongly opposed borrowing of money on which interest had to be paid.

The Odessa County Democrat in 1930 launched a boom for Truman for governor. The boom never developed, but the Democrat's summation of Truman's work is interesting.

"In 1928," he paper said, "he sponsored a movement for a system of paved roads in his county, and $6,500,000 in bonds were voted and the work completed.

"Not a dollar was spent illegally under the watchful eye of Judge Truman. Not only was the road system built which the bond issue called for, but seven additional miles were constructed and after this was accomplished there was $121,000 left over to the applied on more concrete roads."

On July 22, 1944, Roy A. Roberts, managing editor of the Kansas City Star and a distinguished Washington correspondent for the Star long before that, wrote of Truman from Chicago in the first hours after his nomination for Vice-President:

"If anything should happen to F. D. R., many figure there would be a man with common sense and modesty to take over, willing to consult—even if not a superman, and that's just about it.

"Truman came here not wanting the vice-presidency . . . all he wanted was to be let alone in the Senate. He said so. The sheer fact he didn't go after it red hot, with all the drive on for others, didn't hurt him here.

"To friends, Truman confessed he would be happy just to remain as senator. He wanted one more term and then retire."

VFW Head Here In Hospital Quiz

Pledging there would be "no whitewash" if irregular conditions are found in veterans' hospitals, Jean A. Brunner of Forest Hills, N. Y., Veterans of Foreign Wars commander-in-chief, said today he was preparing a report for Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans' affairs administrator.

In Boston to inspect facilities at West Roxbury, Brunner declared wounded war veterans were arriving "so fast it is hard to obtain proper facilities for them."

Brunner planned to check conditions at Rutland veterans' hospital tomorrow, and intends to visit hospitals in the European and Mediterranean areas in the near future.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Miller of Des Moines, Ia., VFW auxiliary national president, and Dept. Comdr. Charles Frascotti of Milford, Brunner visited Gov. Tobin and Mayor Kerrigan.

Kerrigan was luncheon host to Brunner and Mrs. Miller at the Hotel Statler. Tonight he will be given a reception by veterans at the Parker House.

Brunner planned to confer with VFW liaison officers at the Federal Building tomorrow before leaving for Rutland.

Fala Back With Original Owner, Visits His Puppies

RHINEBECK, N. Y., April 16 (AP)—Fala came back today to the home of his original owner—his four-year career as the President's favorite pup at an end.

Now he acts "like he wanted to get out and hunt rabbits, just like any other dog."

The words came from Miss Margaret Suckley, cousin of President Roosevelt, who gave Fala to the Chief Executive.

"The President said once if anything ever happened to him he thought I should take care of Fala," she said. "So now he's going to live with me."

Fala is not in the home of a stranger. Twice he stayed with Miss Suckley when the President was away—at Teheran and again at Yalta. Often he's been in her care on presidential trips.

Rhinebeck is a short drive up the Hudson from the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park. Fala spent Sunday afternoon playing with the two puppies he fathered about a month ago. Miss Suckley thought he seemed in better spirits.

"Fala has puzzled me lately," she said with genuine concern in her voice. "He has been very much depressed the last three days.

"He kept wandering around very sad at Warm Springs. Of course, we have no way of knowing what a dog knows—but it puzzled me."

At Mr. Roosevelt's funeral Miss Suckley held the famous presidential pet that had just been returned to her care.

"I don't know whether you noticed," she said, "but when the cadets fired their rifles in salute, Fala barked.

"They fired three times and he barked each time—a quite sharp bark, you know.

"I wondered about it. It struck me in a way."

OFF WITH THE OLD—It's hat changing time today for the Coast Guard and the SPARS and here we find BM 1c Richard A. Headry of Central ave., Wollaston, giving a friendly hand as SPAR Valerie F. Juszczyk of Weirton Heights, West Va., swaps over from blue to cooling white.

$122,000 Found in Box Left by Malden Woman

Stocks and bank accounts amounting to $122,000 were found by Malden police today in a search for informtaion about relatives of Miss Clara E. Foote, 75-year-old member of the Watch Tower Society, who died suddenly in her Summer st., Malden, home.

The fortune was found in a Middlesex County National Bank safe deposit box with Miss Foote's will, which leaves her entire estate to the Watch Tower Society.

Dr. Andrew D. Guthrie, medical examiner, said she was stricken with a heart attack.

Police said the only relative they could find was a cousin, Mrs. James Osborne of Sutton st., Roxbury.

Miss Foote, according to police, was divorced from George Moreland of Peabody in 1923 and resumed her maiden name. She was the daughter of the late Clarence Foote, prominent singer and music teacher of Peabody.

ANDOVER HERO AND BRIDE—Sgt. Richard M. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard H. Davis of Foster Pond, Andover, and his bride, the former Bernice A. Pacific GI Flies For Estate Battle

Cpl. Leo E. Bon, 34, of Washington st., Brighton, flown from the Philippines to the West Coast to protect his interests in the $100,000 estate of his father, laid claim in Middlesex Probate Court today to control of the International Finance Co.

His father, Joseph Bon of Bellevue st., Newton, held control of the loan company before he died intestate Aug. 18, 1944.

His brother, Lemuel J. Bon of Sumner st., Newton, and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Bassin of Bellevue st., Newton, assert the loan company stock belongs to the estate. Cpl. Bon testified his father had made him a present of 401 shares of voting stock in 1940. In 1943, when the younger Bon went into the Army, he testified, he gave his father power of attorney to vote the stock.

Under cross-examination he admitted his father owned various properties in names of other persons.

Hunt Young Vandals In 2d School Blaze

Ending a three-hour battle against the second incendiary blaze within five days in the Bowditch School, Green st., Jamaica Plain, early today, fire officials asked police aid in rounding up a gang of teen-age vandals and firebugs whose revels in the school caused damage estimated at $15,000.

Firemen, called shortly before midnight, found flames shooting out top floor windows of the three story yellow brick building. Dozens of beer bottles were scattered in hallways, desks of pupils and teachers had been rifled, chairs overturned, a storeroom looted and supplies and records were littered through the building.

Although the school is within sight of the Jamaica Plain police station, police said they had not seen anyone enter the building, closed since Friday because of the President's death.

Fingerprints taken from windows and doors were being checked at headquarters today while investigators questioned residents of the area.

A fire in the school last Tuesday caused $3000 damage. Firemen said a pile of papers apparently had been set ablaze in a telephone booth on the first floor.

Kerrigan Snub Denied by Tobin

Gov. Tobin today denied published deports that he had snubbed Mayor Kerrigan while they were in Washington for the President's funeral.

"I met the mayor only once in Washington and that was at the White House," Tobin said. "We shook hands and talked a few moments."

Asked if it were true, as reported, that a member of the Tobin group had said Tobin's wing of the Democratic party would not support Kerrigan for election as mayor, the Governor responded:

"I consider that a report unworthy of discussion."

Missing $790 Found on Floor

When David Gardner, manager of the Cosmopolitan Press Synd., Little Bldg., went to a corridor wall safe today to get the $790 he tucked in it Friday, the steel cupboard was bare.

Gardner clutched his head in both hands and swooned.

He felt much better when he learned that another tenant, Atty. Russell T. Hamlet, had found the money in an envelope on the floor, near the opened safe, and had turned it over to the building superintendent.

Gardner got his money back. How the money got on the floor is still a mystery.

Sunday Dice Costs Seven Boys $5 Fines

Seven Cambridge youths were fined $5 each by Judge Arthur P. Stone in East Cambridge court today after they had pleaded guilty to charges of gaming on the Lord's Day, resulting from their arrests in a police raid on an ally dice game in Webster ave., Cambridge.

During the raid one of the youths attempting to escape ran into Mrs. Margaret Souza, 25, of Plymouth st., knocking her to the ground. Patrolman Paul Keenan was knocked down similarly by another youth.

9000 Ford Plant Workers End Strike

DETROIT, April 16 (AP)—Approximately 9000 employes of the Ford Motor Co.'s Rouge, Highland Park and Lincoln plants returned to work today as a strike of final assemblers at the Ford-operated Willow Run bomber plant ended.

40 Out in Eastern Mass. Vacation Tiff

Forty maintenance workers at the Chelsea shop of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. were reported today to have quit work in a dispute over vacations.

Vice-President H. I. Sullivan said under the contract provisions, the company was permitted to set vacation times and, since most of the workers had requested the last two weeks of August, had announced the Chelsea and Campello shops would be closed during that period and employes there would take vacations then.

He said some of the workers had been dissatisfied at this solution of the problem and the situation came to a head today when the 40 quit.

Sullivan said the men had made no effort to contact Vice President Fred Cummings, who handles labor relations, the railway trustees or the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration before taking action.

Representatives of the workers, members of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street Railway and Motor Coach Operators, were reported conferring with Eastern Mass. officials while the employes remained at the plant but were doing no work.

Ask 2d Receiver Of Aldred Trust

Petition of Charles F. Stratton of New York for representation by a receiver in the liquidation of the affairs of the Aldred Investment Trust, which controls Suffolk Downs, was taken under advisement in federal court today by Judge George C. Sweeney.

Stratton last year petitioned on behalf of himself and other debenture holders that the trust be placed in receivership and its affairs liquidated.

This petition was dismissed Jan. 19 by Judge Sweeney at the time he granted a Securities and Exchange Commission petition for similar action and named Edward O. Proctor and Edward F. Goode receivers, ruling sufficient relief had been accorded.

During today's hearing it was indicated the Aldred appeal from Judge Sweeney's decision was likely to come before the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals the first week of June.

Gordon Hanlon, president of the trust and head of the Eastern Racing Ass'n, was a spectator in court today.

Kurt Schuschnigg Still Nazi Captive

ON ELBE RIVER, Germany, April 16 (AP)—A former Austrian official arrested by the Nazis with Kurt Schuschnigg said today the former chancellor of Austria was alive and in a concentration camp at Oranienburg.

The former official said Schuschnigg, who opposed the German-Austrian Anschluss, was still in good health so far as he had heard.

V-E Crowds Jam London

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Thousands of visitors are pouring into London and jamming hotels, hopeful of being here for the celebration when "V-E" day is proclaimed.

The police announced plans for concentrating hundreds of officers in central London, but the Bobbies have been instructed to allow the celebrators latitude."

A gigantic aerial parade is expected as part of the V-E show, and Sabbath strollers got a preview yesterday as more than 1000 U. S. Eighth Air Force Liberators flew low over London on their return from the attack on German pockets in the Bordeaux area.

Last night RAF planes engaged in exercises over the capital flashed "V's" to civilians and soldiers in the streets below. Held in the strong glare of searchlights, the planes switched their navigation lights on and off for the "V" signal.

A practice run was made by King George V's special coach which will take the King to St. Paul's Cathedral for the royal victory parade when it comes.

MRS. LILLIAN HARVEY DIES

Funeral services were being arranged today for Mrs. Lillian Cotton Harvey, 80, Mayflower descendant, former newspaperwoman and wife of William H. Harvey of Trapelo rd., Waltham, correspondent of the Boston Globe.

Nazi Civilians Hang Captured U. S. Flier

By EDWARD D. BALL

WITH U. S. FOURTH ARMORED DIVISION, GERMANY, April 16 (AP)—A liberated British prisoner of war said today German civilians had killed two captured American airmen, one by lynching and the other by kicking him as he lay wounded.

"One American airman was lynched and left hanging to a lamp post in Chemnitz," said the Briton, a medical lieutenant colonel captured in Greece in 1941 who had been in charge of a hospital prison camp overrun by the Fourth Armored Division.

"Another airman was kicked to death in the Chemnitz railroad station," the colonel added. "We will produce eyewitnesses of these atrocities for the war crimes investigating committee."

This hospital camp is shared by 900 Allied soldiers, including 100 Americans. Men in one ward hobbled about on stumps where feet used to be, victims of frostbite caused by bailing out at high altitudes or by winter marches from as far away as Upper Silesia with nothing but bread crusts to eat.

In another ward lay men with arms or legs amputated.

Outside, clustered about a garbage bin, was a group of Russians, many with legs or arms gone, ravenously licking the insides of empty C ration cans. When one man gave the can a wipe with his tongue he would pass it on to another.

The Americans did what they could for the Russians by sharing their own Red Cross food parcels.

Liberated Americans said that, a few hours before the Fourth Armored rolled up, 200 half-starved Polish and Rumanian Jewish women were herded down a road past the camp by German women guards in uniform who lashed stragglers.

New Citizens Take Oath Like Truman's

More than 150 men and women of alien birth were sworn in as citizens today by Judge Charles E. Wyzanski of federal court, who told them:

"The oath you just took to become citizens of the United States has much the same wording as the oath Vice-President Truman took Thursday night when he was sworn in as President of the United States."

He urged the group to live up to the oath in all thoughts and deeds.

GIs Find 21,000 Dying Men In Nazis' Buchenwald Camp

By ALLEN STEINKOPF

WEIMAR, Germany, April 16 (AP)—Twenty-one thousand miserable men were wasting away, many too far gone to be saved, when the U. S. 80th Division cracked open the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp.

In the first 24 hours of American administration more than 150 inmates died of malnutrition and disease and 38 succumbed in the next six hours.

It would be conservative to say tens of thousands have died in Buchenwald. Buchenwald's capacity was estimated at 80,000, and inmates said 20,000 to 30,000 men were moved eastward afoot as the Americans approached.

Almost all the small American administration staff could do in the first few hours was to increase the soup ration, add meat and vegetables to it, and release five interned doctors to go to work.

Hundreds of men are beyond saving. In barracks 61, I saw 12 naked bodies loaded on hand trucks, then transferred to a truck collecting corpses from other parts of the camp for the short journey to the six-burner crematorium.

Barrack 61 of the hospital section has two rows of four-tier shelves, divided at 5¼-foot intervals into cubbyholes, with a central gangway between the two rows. Patients were thrust in feet first.

Relief Clothing Pickup Begun

With curbstone collections in Wards 1 to 10, city trucks today began a three-day collection of clothing for war relief. Thomas A. Pappas, Greater Boston chairman of the United National Clothing Collection drive, urged residents to co-operate generously in this vital undertaking and to have their bundles out early.

Tomorrow public works department trucks will cover Wards 11 to 17, and on Wednesday sidewalk collections will be made in Wards 18 to 22.

"We are asking every citizen in the city to contribute something," said Pappas. "Our quota is approximately five pounds per person."

Being War Vets Aids 2 in Trial

All three are veterans of World War II and all are subject to malaria attacks. With so much in common they decided today to patch things up and be friends.

As a result, two Dorchester youths were placed on probation for a year with one being given a two-month suspended sentence after they pleaded guilty in Suffolk Superior Court to assault and battery on Patrolman Richard C. Coughlin of the Fields Corner station March 31.

The pair, Roy P. Adams, 22, of Harrison pk., who got the suspended sentence and Richard Clements, 18, of Maple st., had appealed sentences imposed in Dorchester court after an altercation with the police officer had ended in a street fight.

'L' Fights New Work-Day Bill

A bill now before the Legislature to confine the eight-hour work day of El employes within a 10-hour period would force the company to hire an additional 1290 men at an annual cost of $3,225,000, Willis B. Downey, counsel for the trustees, declared today.

At present the El employes have an eight-hour work day, confined within an 11-hour period, by law. Downey said he thought the matter could be settled satisfactorily by collective bargaining, rather than legislation.

He was opposed by Rep. John T. Fadden of Boston, who said, "If the company were living up to the law it would not be necessary to bring in legislation. The men don't want layoffs in the middle of the day."

Adding that some men go to work in the morning and then have to take a layoff of two or three hours. Fadden asserted the El would have to hire only 100 additional men to make the change.

Judge Lets Two Boys Off to Go to War

Two Medford youths who pleaded guilty in Middlesex Superior Court today to burglary and larceny charges had their cases filed by Judge Leary when he learned they were soon to enter the armed forces.

The boys were Vincent D. Wilder, 18, of Oakland pk., and Francis J. Deluce, 17 of Cross st. Three alleged accomplices also pleaded guilty. Thomas J. Conley, Jr., 19, of Prescott st., Medford, was sentenced to Concord Reformatory for five years and a day and Philip J. Cresta, 17, of Fountain st., Medford, received an indeterminate Concord term.

Suspended sentence was given Donald R. Hammond, 18, of Everett st., Medford.

Mooney Quits Building Post

Mayor Kerrigan, back at his City Hall desk after three weeks' absence, today announced the resignation of Bldg. Commr. James H. Mooney, to become effective April 23.

Mooney in his letter of resignation said he was "certain I can render greater service to Boston citizens" as deputy superintendent of construction in the school department.

The mayor also disclosed he was preparing a program "which will bring millions of visitors to Boston" in the postwar years. He did not reveal details.

Kerrigan conferred with Douglas Lawson, chairman of the advisory committee on recreation and juvenile delinquency, on the results of his trip to study methods used in other cities of the nation.

scarcely any curiosity, merely snatching naps or wandering around with absent-minded detachment.

Buildings were burning a short distance away, on the edge of town. Guns were barking, but men within the town were unconcerned.

Among them I found Pvt. Minor Cozzens, 29 Mt. Vernon st., Fitchburg, an electrician's helper, who had mail from mother Agnes a week ago.

PFC Grinnell Wood, 43 School st., Augusta, Me., whose wife Johanna wrote lately that baby Craig can now lisp a few words.

Pvt. Carleton Pease, 36 Gleason st., Thomaston, Me., a tank driver who used to drive a truck for W. H. Hinman.

Pvt. Anthony Salvaggio, 54 Chelsea st., East Boston, who wants to get home and win back some of the currency he lost at Suffolk Downs.

Gradually the townsfolk hiding during gunfire began coming out of their cellars like reassured woodchucks, first peering apprehensively from hallways, then gradually summoning courage to come into the sunlight to see what curious manner of men we are.

They made feeble overtures at conversation, but the doughboys regarded them frigidly. These combat men who have seen many of their friends killed by meek-looking German soldiers have acquired grim animosity toward everything German. Above all, they bitterly resent stories of German prisoners being pampered in USA camps.

So I mooched around the town square and found Pvt. Lawrence Ryan, 13 Northeast st., Holyoke, dusty-faced medic who had just bandaged a sergeant accidentally shot with his 45, and who talked about 8-month-old Larry, Jr.

And S-Sgt. Melvin E. Mills, Jr., 4 Henderson ave., Worcester, who used to clerk in his dad senior's grocery.

Squatting on a tank was Pvt. Edwin Washburn, 30 Veranda st., Portland, novice rifleman overseas since March 15 and whose mail from wife Marvel (McGoldrick) has not caught up.

Armored columns don't just drool smoothly along by best paved roads. They poke through little cow trails, zigzagging through woodlands, halting to reshuffle the order of march or while in action.

It was late afternoon when the cavalcade proceeded from the top of the hill. I could see Weimar lying like a dead city. No smoke came from its chimney pots. No life appeared in its streets. Behind us a huge cloud of dust hid miles of our vehicles that rolled slowly along.

We came from the woods onto a paved highway. There was a sudden commotion and a loud babble of men's voices. From the clearing came hordes of creatures in dirty striped suits—dark, sallow, wizened men who carried a strange collection of weapons ranging from luger pistols to panzerfaints (kind of a hand rocket-like bazooka).

There must have been a thousand of these strange, unkempt, hard-eyed men who wore numbers painted on their backs and hailed us with gaunt grins that fairly cracked their parchment skins.

They were just freed from a prison camp containing 35,000 slaves—Poles, Russians, Czechs, Spaniards—and now they were frantic to kill their late captors.

They gave a Communist salute with upraised fist, and formed

BACK ACHE?
USE HEAT

Heat relieves muscle pains—quickly, often soon. To get welcome, continued heat relief, for days, right at the sore spot, apply one big Johnson's RED CROSS PLASTER—or the heavier, warmer Johnson's Back Plaster. . . . The mild, active medication gently heats the back, stirs up blood circulation, fights congestion, eases pain. . . . Warm cloth covering retains body heat, protects back against chilling, provides continuous support. . . . Try this clean, easy, proved way to "heat treat" simple backache and other muscular pains—TODAY. (In case of chronic backache, see your doctor.) . . . awkward infantry formations under self-picked leaders, deploying along our route in a well-meant but futile attempt to clean the woods of snooping Krauts, but in their wild exuberance they couldn't be content with such a passive role.

They began firing weapons all at once, sending a barrage into the forests, yelling and dancing with maniacal glee. The din was terrific and the effect of fire nil, but it gave these half-human characters their first chance for voluntary action in five years of imprisonment.

From decks of passing troop carriers, looking on at the strange hobgoblins were:

Pvt. Linwood Wilson, Cooper's Mills, Me., lately arrived ex-truck driver for Philip Rowling.

Pvt. Lawrence Studley, Star Route, Waldoboro, Me., 18-year-old lobster fisherman serving his combat novitiate.

PFC Harold O'Donnell, 1886 Bedford st., Stamford Ct.

Pvt. Edgar Hawarth, 207 Hudson st., New Bedford, a medic who has his application in for that city's fire dept.

I understand now why combat soldiers rarely write home of their battle experiences. In this miasma where so much action is crowded between dawn and dark, it does not register in one's mind. Impressions are like those while under anesthesia, disjointed, fragmentary and without sequence or logic.

One loses his sense of values under such tremendous pressure. Mental images are flattened into uniform commonplace. I find myself scarcely able to select what is pertinent from today's saturnalia.

I do not yet know how I can get my copy back for radio transmission.

9 Girls From Hub Area Off With Group for WAC Camp

Nine Greater Boston girls were among a group of WAC recruits leaving Boston today for Ft. Des Moines, Ia., some of them for service with the Army Air Forces and others for hospital training.

Moya Mitchell of Medford, former WASP with 1000 flying hours to her credit and member of the "99" organization of women pilots, was in the group. Her brother, T-Sgt. DeWitt Mitchell, recently completed 50 missions overseas. Their father, Lt. Louis A. Mitchell, is assigned to headquarters at Ft. Devens.

Another was Catherine McSweeney of Bowman st., Dorchester, who has three brothers in the service; Sgt. Daniel McSweeney, paratrooper in Manila; John F. McSweeney, RM 2-c, overseas with the Navy, and Lt. Eugene McSweney, who was 32 months in the South Pacific.

Sophie F. Barrows of Beachcroft st., Brighton, wife of Pvt. Albert L. Barrows, stationed with the Dental Clinic at Camp Edwards, also was in the group. A brother, Pvt. James Crawford, is overseas with the Field Artillery, and another brother, William, is in the Navy.

Others were: Catherine A. Mahoney, Center st., Dorchester; Edith Derer, Glenburne st., Roxbury; Dorothy L. George, Washington st., Roslindale; Mary Mantjouranis, Ashland ave., Manchester; Mary Silva, Main st., Gloucester, and Mary M. Gillis, Fox st., Dorchester.

Frenzied Hitler Spurs Army To Wipe Out Attacking Reds

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Hitler, in an order of the day to German soldiers on the Eastern Front, declared tonight:

"For the last time the Jewish-Bolshevist arch enemy has launched his massed attack. He is trying to destroy Germany and to wipe out our people.

"Soldiers in the east, you yourselves know what fate threatens, particularly the German women, girls and children. While old men and children are being murdered women and girls are being reduced to the status of prostitutes. The remainder led away to Siberia.

"We have expected this offensive and since January of this year everything has been done in order to build up a strong front. A tremendous artillery concentration is meeting the enemy.

"This time the Bolsheviks will suffer the old fate of Asiat—hey must and will perish in front of the German capital.

"Whoever at this moment does not fulfill his duty is a traitor."

He warned the soldiers to watch particularly the few treacherous officers and soldiers who, in order to secure their miserable lives, will fight against us in Russian pay and perhaps even in Russian uniform."

"Anyone who orders you to retreat and is unknown to you must be arrested immediately and if necessary disposed of, whatever his rank.

"Berlin remains German Vienna will again become German and Europe will never become Russian."

"At the moment when fate has eliminated the greatest war criminal of all times, the turn of the tide will come," he concluded.

Too Persuasive

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Chubby "Potato Pete," whose face has peered at Britons from millions of posters, was fired today by the Ministry of Food. He did so well the job of persuading people to eat potatoes that once-plentiful spuds now are scarce.

PAROLEE BILL REJECTED

The legislative committee on public welfare rejected a bill today to provide for the release of prisoners on parole during the existing war emergency.

Frost Damage To Crops Is Light

Slight damage to crops in central Massachusetts was reported today as freezing temperatures spread a light frost over isolated sections.

Continued chily weather was in prospect for tonight with intermittent light showers expected to start late today.

Concord reported a reading of 31 with frost, which caused minor damage to asparagus crops. Farmers said orchards appeared to have escaped damage.

In Presque Isle, Me., the mercury plummeted to 18 and Millinocket, Me., reported 19 degrees.

Clearing and somewhat higher temperatures were predicted for tomorrow.

Truman Tells Peace Hope

and was beloved by, all humanity.

"No man could possibly fill the tremendous void left by the passing of that noble soul. No words can ease the aching hearts of untold millions of every race, creed and color. The world knows it has lost a heroic champion of justice and freedom.

Tragic fate has thrust upon us grave responsibilities. We must carry on. Our departed leader never looked backward. He looked forward and moved forward. That is what he would want us to do. That is what America will do.

So much blood has already been shed for the ideals which we cherish, and for which Franklin Delano Roosevelt lived and died, that we dare not permit even a momentary pause in the hard fight for victory.

Today, the entire world is looking to America for enlightened leadership to peace and progress. Such a leadership requires vision, courage and tolerance. It can be provided only by a united nation deeply devoted to the highest ideals.

I call upon all Americans to help me keep our nation united in defense of those ideals which have been so eloquently proclaimed by Franklin Roosevelt.

I want in turn to assure my fellow Americans and all of those who love peace and liberty throughout the world that I will support and defend those ideals with all my strength and with all my heart. That is my duty and I shall not shirk it.

So that there can be no possible misunderstanding, both Germany and Japan can be certain, beyond any shadow of doubt, America will continue the fight for freedom until no vestige of resistance remains.

We are deeply conscious of the fact that much hard fighting is still ahead of us.

Having to pay such a heavy price to make complete victory certain, America will never become a party to any plan for partial victory.

To settle for merely another temporary respite would surely jeopardize the future security of the world.

Our demand has been, and it remains — unconditional surrender!

We will not traffic with the breakers of the peace on the terms of the peace.

The responsibility for the making of the peace—and it is a very grave responsibility—must rest with the defenders of the peace, the United Nations. We are not unconscious of the dictates of humanity. We do not wish to see unnecessary or unjustified suffering. But the laws of God and of man have been violated and the guilty must not go unpunished. Nothing shall shake our determination to punish the war criminals even though we must pursue them to the ends of the earth.

Lasting peace can never be secured if we permit our dangerous opponents to plot future wars with impunity at any mountain retreat however distant.

In this shrinking world, it is futile to seek safety behind geographical barriers. Real security will be found only in law and in justice.

Here in America, we have labored long and hard to achieve a social order worthy of our great heritage. In our time, tremendous progress has been made toward a really democratic way of life. Let me assure the forward-looking people of America that there will be no relaxation in our efforts to improve the lot of the common people.

In the difficult days ahead, unquestionably we shall face problems of staggering proportions. However, with the faith of our fathers in our hearts, we fear no future.

On the battlefields, we have frequently faced overwhelming odds —and won! At home, Americans will not be less resolute!

We shall never cease our struggle to preserve and maintain our American way of life.

At this very moment America, along with her brave Allies, is paying again a heavy price for the defense of our freedom. With characteristic energy, we are assisting in the liberation of entire nations. Gradually, the shackles of slavery are being broken by the forces of freedom.

All of us are praying for a speedy victory. Every day peace is delayed, costs a terrible toll.

The armies of liberation today are bringing to an end Hitler's ghastly threat to dominate the world. Tokyo rocks under the weight of our bombs.

The grand strategy of a United Nations' war has been determined—due in no small measure to the vision of our departed Commander-in-Chief. We are now carrying out our part of that strategy under the able direction of Admiral Leahy, Gen. Marshall, Adm. King, Gen. Arnold, Gen. Eisenhower, Adm. Nimitz and Gen. MacArthur.

I want the entire world to know that this direction must and will remain—unchanged and unhampered!

Our debt to the heroic men and valiant women in the service of our country can never be repaid. They have earned our undying gratitude. America will never forget their sacrifices. Because of these sacrifices, the dawn of justice and freedom throughout the world slowly casts its gleam across the horizon.

Our forefathers came to our rugged shores in search of religious tolerance, political freedom and economic opportunity. For those fundamental rights, they risked their lives. We well know today that such rights can be preserved only by constant vigilance, the eternal price of liberty!

Within an hour after I took the oath of office, I announced that the San Francisco Conference would proceed. We will face the problems of peace with the same courage that we have faced and mastered the problems of war.

In the memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in the memory of our fallen President—we shall not fail!

It is not enough to yearn for peace. We must work, and, if necessary, fight for it. The task of creating a sound international organization is complicated and difficult. Yet, without such organization, the rights of man on earth cannot be protected.

Machinery for the just settlement of international differences must be found. Without such machinery, the entire world will have to remain an armed camp. The world will be doomed to deadly conflict, devoid of hope for real peace.

Fortunately, people have retained hope for a durable peace. Thoughtful people have always had faith that ultimately justice must triumph. Past experience surely indicates that, without justice, an enduring peace becomes impossible.

In bitter despair, some people have come to believe that wars are inevitable. With tragic fatalism, they insist that as wars have always been, of necessity, wars will always be. To such defeatism, men and women of good will must not and can not yield. The outlook for humanity is not so hopeless.

During the darkest hours of this horrible war, entire nations were kept going by something intangible — hope! When warned that abject submission offered the only salvation against overwhelming power, hope showed the only way to victory.

Hope has become the secret weapon of the forces of liberation!

Aggressors could not dominate the human mind. As long as hope remains, the spirit of man will never be crushed.

But hope alone was not and is not sufficient to avert war. We must not only have hope but we must have faith enough to work with other peace-loving nations to maintain the peace. Hope was not enough to beat back the aggressors as long as the peace-loving nations were unwilling to come to each other's defense. The aggressors were beaten back only when the peace-loving nations united to defend themselves.

If wars in the future are to be prevented, the peace-loving nations must be united in their determination to keep the peace under law. The breaking of the peace anywhere is the concern of peace-loving nations everywhere.

Nothing is more essential to the future peace of the world than continued co-operation of the nations which had to muster the force necessary to defeat the conspiracy of the Fascist powers to dominate the world.

While these great States have a special responsibility to enforce the peace, their responsibility is based upon the obligations resting upon all States, large and small, not to use force in international relations except in the defense of law. The responsibility of the great States is to serve and not dominate the peoples of the world.

To build the foundation of enduring peace we must not only work in harmony with our friends abroad, but we must have the united support of our own people.

Even the most experienced pilot cannot bring a ship safely into harbor unless he has the full co-operation of the crew. For the benefit of all, every individual must do his duty.

I appeal to every American, regardless of party, race, creed, or color, to support our efforts to build a strong and lasting United Nations organization.

You, the members of Congress, surely know how I feel. Only with your help can I hope to complete one of the greatest tasks ever assigned to a public servant. With divine guidance, and your help, we will find the new passage to a far better world, a kindly and friendly world, with just and lasting peace.

With confidence, I am depending upon all of you.

To destroy greedy tyrants with plans of world domination, we cannot continue in successive generations to sacrifice our finest youth.

In the name of human decency and civilization, a more rational method of deciding national differences must and will be found!

America must assist suffering humanity back along the path of peaceful progress. This will require time and tolerance. We shall need also an abiding faith in the people, the kind of faith and courage which Franklin Delano Roosevelt always had!

Today, America has become one of the most powerful forces for good on earth. We must keep it so. We have achieved a world leadership which does not depend solely upon our military and naval might.

We have learned to fight with other nations in common defense of our freedom. We must now learn to live with other nations for our mutual good. We must learn to trade more with other nations so that there may be—for our mutual advantage—increased production, increased employment and better standards of living throughout the world.

May we Americans live up to our glorious heritage.

In that way, America may well lead the world to peace and prosperity.

At this moment, I have in my heart a prayer. As I assume my heavy duties I humbly pray to Almighty God, in the words of Solomon:

"Give therefore Thy servant an understanding heart to judge Thy people, that I may discern between good and bad: for who is able to judge this Thy so great a people?"

I ask only to be a good and faithful servant of my Lord and my people.

Crowd Applauds Address

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—When President Truman strode in at 1:02 p. m., he was greeted by a burst of applause in which gallery crowds joined. There was more applause on his introduction by Speaker Rayburn, and it swelled again when, near the outset of his speech, Mr. Truman reiterated the Allied demand for "unconditional surrender" of the Axis.

The President read his speech carefully, rarely changing a word. When he reached the paragraph "I call upon all Americans to help me keep our nation united in defense of those ideals which have been so eloquently proclaimed by Franklin Roosevelt," Mr. Truman interpolated the introductory phrase: "with great humility."

During his 19-minute address, the President was interrupted by applause a dozen times. At the close he was given a standing ovation before leaving the chamber at 1:24 p. m., to return to the White House executive offices.

WASHINGTON, April 16 (INS) —President Truman returned to the White House at 1:37 today after delivering his message.

He ate his lunch alone on a tray in his office.

The only scheduled caller for the remainder of the day was Robert Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. Hannegan, like the President, is a Missourian.

Mrs. F. D. Gives First-Lady Pointers to Mrs. Truman

By EDITH GAYLORD

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) Mrs. Harry S. Truman, new First Lady, today conferred with her predecessor, Mrs. Roosevelt, for more than an hour.

Mrs. Truman arrived at the White House at 10:50 a. m. She left by a back entrance at 12:15 p. m., in order to go to the Capitol to hear her husband's first address to Congress as President.

The former First Lady showed Mrs. Truman around the White House, explaining in detail the social and household duties of its mistress.

Mrs. Truman will receive further information as time permits from the chief usher, from Mrs. Meredith Helm, social secretary, and from Mrs. Enriette Nesbitt, housekeeper.

While Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Roosevelt conferred, Army quartermaster trucks loaded with barrels, boxes and excelsior moved in and out of the White House grounds.

This is only the beginning of the mammoth physical task facing Mrs. Roosevelt who is trying to remove 12 years' accumulation of family belongings out of the White House in a few days to enable the Trumans to move in as soon as possible.

Mrs. Truman had a moving job on her hands today, too. The new President and his family will stay temporarily at Blair house, government guest house across Pennsylvania ave, from the White House. They have been living in a Connecticut ave. apartment.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

LOOKING AHEAD

SENATOR HARRY F. BYRD of Virginia has introduced in Congress a bill (S. 825), the purpose of which is:

"To establish a research board for national security to insure the continued preparedness of the nation along farsighted technical lines by providing for the application of scientific research to national security; to provide a means of utilizing in times of peace as well as war the services of the outstanding scientists of the nation in the planning and executing of military research."

The proposed board, which would be appointed by the President, would be composed of forty members, including Army and Navy specialists and civilian scientists, engineers and industrialists.

The board would be "responsive" to both the Army and Navy, but would be independent of each and would obtain its own funds from Congress for expenses and the salaries of technicians.

Its civilian members would serve without compensation, under tenures sufficient for long-term research, and—to prevent political patronage—civilian members would be nominated to the President by the National Academy of Sciences.

The outstanding lesson of this war is that the next war, if war comes again, will be a war of the most advanced "science"—a struggle of diabolical ingenuity and of wide-ranging destructiveness in which a nation that is unprepared to repulse attack will not be given time to prepare.

This country may avoid such a war by being fully prepared for it. If the war cannot be averted, we must be completely equipped to win it expeditiously at the minimum sacrifice of lives and treasure.

"I know of nothing more important in the years to come," said Senator Byrd, "than for this nation to perform the necessary research work so that we will know about—and be prepared to use, if necessary for our own protection—new inventions and new methods of warfare.

"It is a fact, which I do not think can be disputed, that both America and England have not been successful in new developments of warfare to an extent equal with Germany.

"We all hope and pray for permanent peace, but we must recognize the fact that our national security demands that we not permit other nations to excel us in new methods of warfare which could be used to destroy us.

"No man wants peace more than I do, and no one is more opposed to war, unless war is forced upon us, but I do recognize the great need for having the best research capacity in the country constantly at work in the development, made possible by scientific investigation, of new methods of warfare and the best means to repel such attacks as may be used by other nations against us."

DON'T RELAX

IMMEDIATELY following the victorious end of the battle of Iwo Jima, a "good news reaction" set in among blood donors, causing a steady decline in the number of pints of plasma contributed to the Red Cross Blood Banks in many parts of the country.

That probably will be information worthy of a celebration to the Japs, but it will have no such effect on our own sons in the hellholes of the Pacific.

To them it can only presage a shortage of blood when their very lives depend on a constant and ever-increasing supply of the vital fluid to replace the amounts certain to be lost in the Iwo Jimas of the future.

When our troops occupy Tokyo and the whole Japanese Empire bows in unconditional surrender, then—and only then—can we afford to stop our blood contributions.

Our Late President and Fala

HE DIED FOR FREEDOM

By CARLTON FITCHETT

They tip-toe through the White House halls
And speak in whispers hushed by grief
And Fala waits, as twilight falls,
The warm caresses of his chief.

* * *

To bring a smile to weary lips
And coax his master's thoughts to stray
From armies, planes and tanks and ships,
From plans of battles far away.

* * *

Oh, faithful pal of one so great
Who fanned the hopes of conquered lands,
Though through eternity you wait
No more in joy you'll lick his hands.

* * *

In Freedom's cause he gave his life.
The loss of all he loved he braved,
And died amidst the awful strife
To free his fellow-man, enslaved.

* * *

And Fala, even you can't know
The grief that stuns the decent world
That one who led the fight should go
Just when our flag may be unfurled
Alas, the summons he obeyed
Upon the threshold of the peace
For which he nobly fought and prayed.

Red letter days are both for me,
Both days I welcome gratefully.
One gave me life, it is true,
But one gave me more, it gave me you.

A SPRINGER SPANIEL is so named because he "springs" birds from the bushes. That is, makes them fly out so the hunter can get a shot at them. He is a hunting dog and his specialty is birds. Our dog is a Springer. This morning, as he was strolling about sniffing, two birds flew out of the bushes, hopped on his back and started to pluck his hair out. Our dog was so amazed at this arrogance he was slow getting into action. Before he could do anything the birds flew away. The dog rushed around and barked a little and then looked sheepishly at me as much as to say: "Can you beat that? They made a fool out of me." I sympathized with him. Still, you can't blame the birds for trying to get even with the bird-dogs. I understand some types of birds use dog-hair in the construction of their nests. So the birds aforementioned were probably combining business with pleasure.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—As a bald-headed man I strongly resent the claim that. "Where the hair is thin, the brains are thin." Wasn't Julius Caesar bald-headed? A—Caesar was partially bald. History tells us he had a bald spot about which he was very sensitive. Q—I say the hit and run play in baseball was introduced by the old New York Giants around 1908. The colonel says the Baltimore Orioles started it. How about this? A—I hope you didn't contradict the colonel too strongly because the old boy is right. The hit and run play was first introduced in 1894 by John McGraw and "Wee Willie" Keeler, both then playing with the Baltimore Orioles.

OLD SONGS. Were the tunes and lyrics of the popular songs of the yesteryear better than those of today? Let's not argue about that now. Anyway, Queen Victoria once was so charmed by a tune a military band was playing she asked what the words were. They were as follows:

Come where the booze is cheaper,
Come where the pots hold more,
Come where the boss is a bit of a joss,
Come to the pub next door.

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, April 16—A young Englishwoman, who is a bride on account of just having been married, landed on our shores the other day and promptly cracked the cement around a lot of Anglo-American relations.

The imported bride, 23-year-old Mrs. Ralph Davidson, wife of a lieutenant in the United States Army, took it upon herself to explain why British girls marry American soldiers.

They prefer our boys, averred Mrs. Davidson, practically putting those good old hands-across-the-sea to her nose, because:

1—They are gayer and more carefree than "serious and steady" Britons.
2—They wear snappier uniforms.
3—They have more money.

* * *

I DO NOT doubt for one minute that Mrs. Davidson was telling the simple truth as she saw it. But the question arises:

Should she—in the interests of international amity—have said it?

I will bet almost anything she wishes now she hadn't; that she had kept her little Anglo-American trap shut.

Her frankness failed to win friends on either side of the Atlantic. American girls, many of whom have seen their men lured away by London belles, said things about Mrs. Davidson which probably will lead to questions being asked in the House of Commons.

By the way, does anyone know why they are forever asking questions in the House of Commons? Ain't they got nothing better to do than ask riddles?

* * *

BUT THE harshest recriminations came from Mrs. Davidson's own countryfolk. The transatlantic edition of the London Daily Mail carried nearly a column of such the other day.

"If that's the type of girls Britain is letting travel to America as wives of our American allies and inevitable ambassadors to Britain," snarls a party signing herself Aileen Pennington, "then the sooner we put the ban on them leaving England until they've learned some sense the better."

* * *

AFTER WHAT happened to Mrs. Davidson my advice to all imported brides is to refrain from excessive frankness. When asked why they married an American they would do well to stick to the old reliable:

"Because I love him!"

* * *

LISTEN—I can take almost anything. But please do not ask me to go along with this program to humanize Mr. Stalin.

The same edition of the Daily Mail carries this item anent the dear old Santa Claus of the Kremlin:

"Russian chocolates received from Stalin by Mr. Churchill were distributed by Mrs. Churchill during a recent visit to bombed-out children of a small Kent town."

And now, children, let us all recite:

"He had a big pipe and a face that was odd-ka
"Which shook when he laughed like a bowlful of vodka."

* * *

THAT LOVELY bit of verse brings to mind that Assistant Secretary of State Archibald MacLeish is active again. He is trying to sell his house.

I do not know whether this means Archibald is being heaved out of Washington and I have no idea how to go about finding out because Mr. MacLeish will not tell me anything. But, as I always say, let us hope for the best.

MacLeish's place in Alexandria, Va., is known as the Lee House because Robert E. lived there as a boy.

Archie is asking $65,000 for the joint which seems reasonable because it is in a good neighborhood, with high-class neighbors. Diagonally across the street is the home of that horny-handed son of toil, John L. Lewis.

* * *

INCIDENTALLY, I think we should stop calling Archibald "The Bald Bard of Balderdash." While it might be flattering it is not as much as he deserves. This is much more appropriate:

"The post lacerate!"

* * *

AND, AS THE spring sunshine floods the greensward with its beneficent warmth, leave us all stick blossoms in our hair and dance a merry rigadoon, chanting:

"A little hug—a little kooch
"A verse or two
"By A. MacLeish!"

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 16—Lt. Jackie Coogan's little boy, John Anthony, age 3½ years, is getting ready to follow in his dad's footsteps. He's been in Ben Piazza's office with his mother, Flower Perry Coogan, to talk about an RKO contract.

Seems Leo McCarey wants John Anthony for a part in "Bells of St. Mary's" and he is due to be signed any day. The youngster is so cute, and a ringer for Jackie when Jackie made "The Kid" with Charlie Chaplin and won the applause of the world. His photographs, Ben tells me, are out of this world. The boy lives with his mother, and I must say she's done a wonderful job of bringing him up. He's as cute as can be.

WELL, Jane Russell gets back the starring role in "The Young Widow" and that settles for all time the discussion of who is to have the role. Jane, long before Ida Lupino and Joan Fontaine were discussed, was Hunt Stromberg's choice. Then he decided to switch her to "Dishonored Lady." Hunt told me that Ida Lupino had never turned down the script. They had an early difference of opinion but Ida finally gave approval to the story. Before they could get going she was due at 20th Century-Fox on a previous commitment so she couldn't make the picture.

WHEN EDMUND GOULDING first came to Hollywood from New York he had the reputation of directing movies as though they were Broadway plays. Now Eddie is back on Broadway producing his own play and he can not forget his Hollywood methods. He is so hep to Hollywood casting he has contacted Ruth Hussey to play his Broadway heroine. Ruth, who is under contract to M-G-M, would have to get permission, or course. She's been under suspension for a month or more. The lady has a gleam in her eye, indicating she would like to accept the Goulding offer, so maybe it will be arranged.

I HAVE SOME hot information on the Gloria Vanderbilt Di Cicco-Leopold Stokowski romance. Gloria is at Zephyr Cove this moment, enjoying the beauties of Lake Tahoe while waiting for her divorce which comes up for hearing April 20. Stokowski, who has joined her and will, according to a source so good we feel it must be true, leaves with her from Reno by auto for Mexico, where they are to be married. This is in spite of the strong denials Gloria Vanderbilt, Sr., made in New York. Stokowski wooed Gloria with poetry. Gloria herself writes verse.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: A very excited Zsa Zsa Hilton talked to me by telephone today. "I was never so happee!" she said. "I am going to marry John Sutton as soon as I get my divorce." Zsa Zsa had that day consulted her lawyer and decided to file suit against her millionaire husband, Conrad Hilton, for $10,000,000. It is a surprise since he was supposed to marry Mary Lou Dix as soon as both were free. Zsa Zsa also called her sister, Eva Gabor, to tell her the moment it is legal she'll become Mrs. Sutton. Before Sutton went into the Navy he was an actor on the 20th Century-Fox lot.

Dennis Day, who is also in the Navy was with Jackie, and Richard said the show they put on was a wonderful morale booster for the boys. I bet it was!

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Copyright, 1945, King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, April 16—Mary's writing has won her world-wide recognition in a remarkably short time. Her name is familiar to housewives and millionaires, chorus girls and strap-hangers, and she's coining money like a miniature mint. But all this happened to Mary in the past couple of seasons.

Dorothy Killgallen

There was bitter poverty and all but hopeless struggle during the many years in which she sought recognition. Those years would have taken the heart out of most people, but Mary didn't mind too much, because there was always Bill. There was always their future together.

She saw herself as Mrs. Bill. She saw Bill as the star of a great Broadway play—his name in lights and all the seasons of fruitless struggle and bit parts in cheap stock companies far behind him. She saw herself as the author of a best seller.

* * *

At last the book was finished and Mary sent it to a publisher. What happened after that really floored her. The publishers were exultant.

Of course, she rushed to tell Bill, but on the way home she had a second thought and decided to use a little showmanship. The publishers had said she'd have the first check in the mail within two days—so, bursting with joy though she was, she resolved to wait for the check and announce the news to Bill by showing him the first unbelievable fruits of her success.

* * *

BUT FATE and Bill had made other plans. He was waiting for her when she got home. There was something he had to tell her. He was going to marry another woman—somebody named Edith.

It wasn't a question of being in love with Edith, he said, because he wasn't in love with anybody . . . not even Mary. But he was tired of struggling. He knew he had talent and Edith had agreed to finance his career.

So Bill married Edith. And on that same day Mary married Ralph, a very nice fellow, who had always been around but never had come into focus because Mary's dazzled eyes had only been able to see Bill.

Three months later Bill learned of Mary's success by reading the rave book reviews. He wrote a letter denouncing all women as double-crossers. Edith, he revealed, had lied about her wealth and reneged on her promise to finance his career, and, in his opinion, Mary was no better because she had allowed him to marry another woman when all along she knew of the acclaim and fortune that were to be hers. By the way, could she lend him ten dollars?

Mary mailed him a hundred.

* * *

THE OTHER DAY the papers announced that Mary had just sold an original movie script, and that unknowns were being cast for it. And who do think sent the first wire to your Mary, begging to be auditioned for a part?

Why, Bill, of course. But you can't print that.

Mary sent a "no" through her secretary. Not that she bears a grudge, but she doesn't think Ralph would like it. Anyway, she auditioned Bill years ago—and he didn't fit the part she had in mind.

LISTEN, I CAN'T STAND THAT ONE-NOTE RHAPSODY ANY LONGER!
WHY DON'T YOU AND YOUR CLASSMATE GO OUT TO THE PARK AND TALK OVER OLD TIMES IN A TREE?

HOLLYWOOD, April 16—Katharine Hepburn's next picture will be John Van Druten's "The Damask Cheek," which Walter Reisch is now converting into a scenario for her . . . Morrie Ryskind and Sig Herzig are now writing the musical comedy, "Nellie Bly," for a Broadway production . . . Robert Walker and Diana Lynn are back together again . . . At the sneak preview of "Kiss and Tell," which is an avalanche of laughter, a woman remarked: "It's not funny. People keep laughing and you can't hear the jokes."

* * *

ESTHER WILLIAMS cares only for Sgt. Ben Gage and he's the boy friend, despite the fact that she may go to dinner with Van Johnson . . . Sam Spewack will cover the World Security Conference for United Press . . . Kathleen Winsor was at Ciro's the other night, and she was practically the floor show the way the audience kept looking at her.

* * *

JOAN CRAWFORD has received an offer from RKO to play the lead in the movie version of "The Fabulous Invalid" . . . Vivian Blaine's next film will be "New Orleans" . . . Lucille Bremer and Jean Negulesco are vooming . . . Ed Gardner is going overseas to entertain the troops in June, and will take several other acts with him . . . Irving Starr returns to Metro as a producer and Lou Edelman has signed as a producer at Paramount . . . Lester Cowan wants to do a picture about the returning soldiers, and would like to get Ernie Pyle to write the original yarn for him . . . Oscar Serlin is in town looking for performers for his next Broadway show. He wanted to talk to Bonita Granville, but learned that she is in Boston

* * *

MARLENE DIETRICH, according to letters received by friends, is writing a book about herself called, "And I'd Do It Again" . . . Cornell Wilde, now working in "Bandits of Sherwood Forest," will play the role of Oscar Hammerstein in Otto Preminger's "Romance With Music" . . . Ann Harding will open an exclusive dress shop in Beverly Hills . . . Lt. Com. John McLain is escorting Anne Baxter about town.

* * *

DURING a recent interview Brian Donlevy told of when he arrived in Southern California. He was walking along Vine st. when a newsboy, noticing that he was a stranger looking the town over, approached him and started talking. He pointed out the various landmarks. He points to Vine st., between Sunset and Hollywood blvd. and said to Donlevy: "This is Hollywood." Then he pointed to the area north of Hollywood blvd. and said, "And this is California."

Boston After Dark

NEW YORK, April 16—The big town emerges slowly from the shock of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's death . . . Small buttons resembling campaign buttons, but set apart by a small streamer of mourning black, were visible on men's lapels and women's frocks or spring coats as congregations streamed in and out of churches throughout the day of burial . . . Week-end crowds at the swank places catering to the haut monde were well-filled nevertheless, and the buzz of political talk makes conversation animated.

* * *

AT THE STORK'S exclusive CUB room, Walter Winchell, to whom America was divided into those who were on the lamented President's "team" and the opposition, performed a small miracle by flashing a smile and a cheery, cordial word to friends across the room . . . Walter loved the late FDR . . . His New York column of FDR anecdotes, studded with intimate personal experiences, (in Tuesday's Daily Record), made for some of the best reading the Silver Fox of Broadway and environs has given his readers.

* * *

THE POLITICAL TALK goes on under the age-old rule of thumb set by human nature and best expressed by The king is dead; long live the king" . . . Political potentates dethroned in the New York area are Sen. James Mead (definitely), Mayor LaGuardia, who didn't attend the presidential rites (positively), and Dist. Atty. O'Dwyer, seen by the political wiseacres as LaGuardia's probable successor as mayor (possibly) . . . and each uncrowning impinges indirectly on Roosevelt's passing . . . A Democratic wheel horse named John Cashmore, a name unknown to Bostonians, has a chance now of being the next mayor of New York . . . He is president of the borough of Brooklyn.

* * *

THE ASCENDANCY of Cashmore is one of those peculiar quirks of politics . . . so-called organization Democrats incline to his cause . . . Why? Believe it or don't, the reason cited here is that O'Dwyer was to have had the support of FDR had he lived . . . It doesn't make much sense, but that is the fact of the situation . . . O'Dwyer remains the No. 1 mayoralty prospect, however, and will probably be the favorite from now until the fall election . . . Of high interest to many Bostonians is the sudden emergence of a political "name" of one James Aloysius Farley, once known as the President-maker . . . Big Jim is now regarded as the most likely nominee of the Democratic party—if he'll accept—for Governor . . . Sen. Mead, the late President's friend, was seen as a cinch to contest with Gov. Dewey in 1946.

* * *

HIGH GLEE rules among old-line Democrats at the predicted collapse of the American Labor Party as the balance-of-power wing (left) in the city and State . . . It was built around the late President and wielded power because of the mutual friendship.

* * *

HAVING UNDERTAKEN to keep Milady informed of the situation in nylons, so near to the limbs and dear to the hearts of the girls, it is with some dismay that we transmit the news that the Boston area is the headquarters of the raging black market in that "essential" commodity . . . The traffic persists, and on a fairly large scale, and we say this in contradiction of the inaccurate recent statements by knowing commentators that the racket is virtually non-existent

Seed-Planting Care Pays Good Dividend

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head, Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Garden on Boston Common.

Most gardeners are getting ready this week to plant their first seeds. Seed catalogues tell how much seed to sow per 100-foot row, but these directions are often confusing. However, if you work slowly at first, it is possible to count seeds per foot and get good results.

For large seeds such as peas, sow about 15 seeds per foot. For the smaller seeds which do not come up well if sown too lightly it is best to sow 20 to 25 seeds per foot. This will insure a good stand and you can thin the crop later.

At this time of the year it is a mistake to cover seeds too deeply. The soil is cool and seeds germinate better, and are less liable to develop damping-off diseases, when planted shallow.

Small seeds need only to be covered ¼ to ½-inch if the seed bed is well prepared. Larger seeds should be covered about ¾-inch to 1-inch in depth.

The last few days have been warm and dry, which may delay germination, but do not water unless you use extreme care. The reason soils dry out on the surface at this time of the year is that the plowing or spading has disturbed the natural cappilary action, and the soil must settle again before the movement of water from below can start.

Light soils may even benefit if they are rolled lightly. Tamp the soil firmly over the seeds with a rake or hoe, or walk down the row. This will speed germination.

Label all rows planted and keep a record of planting dates. If seeds do not come up on time, replant before it is too late.

Austin Lake writes every day for the Boston American.

Get Brakes Inspected Now, Autoists Told

The Registry of Motor Vehicles today urged all motorists to cooperate in the Brake Emphasis Program sponsored by the International Ass'n of Chiefs of Police and have their brakes checked at once. The campaign is now under way.

The registry reported that auto fatalities in the state last week totaled 10, the same number as in the corresponding period a year ago.

Breakfast Tips

By MARTHA LEE

A GOOD MEAL starts the day right for those of you who want to work in that all-important Victory Garden that will feed your family in months of scarcities. You really need an adequate breakfast so that the extra exercise and work doesn't leave you all worn out for the rest of the day.

Breakfast skimpers often experience a mid-morning tiredness that leads to poor work and irritability. Women in particular are inclined to skip breakfast in their desire to remain streamlined. This puts an unnecessary burden on the other two meals of the day.

It's simple to remember that fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter are needed by all. The quantity of these basic foods or the addition of others depends upon the size and activity of the person.

Here is a menu which can be prepared in 10 minutes—while the coffee brews. Serve it buffet style and your worries are over.

BREAKFAST

Honey Apples
Ready-to-eat Cereal Milk
Sunrise Coffee Cake
Butter or Margarine
Milk Coffee

Here are the simple steps of preparation:

1—Put water on for coffee; measure coffee into pot. (Or use your favorite quick method.)

2—Remove baked apples, milk and butter from the refrigerator.

3—Cut coffee cake and place on serving platter.

4—Pour ready-to-eat cereals into bowls. (Cooked cereals may be prepared the night before and reheated before breakfast.)

5—Place dishes, silver and food on the table.

6—Finish making coffee (if necessary).

7—Let the family help themselves to breakfast.

The baked apples and coffee cake may be baked the night before while you are in the kitchen preparing dinner. This is an example of the wisdom of planning breakfast menus in advance.

SUNRISE COFFEE CAKE

3 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
⅓ cup brown sugar
1½ cups wheat flakes
1½ cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder
2 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. salt
¼ tbsp. shortening
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup orange marmalade

Blend together butter or margarine, brown sugar and ½ cup wheat flakes; set aside for topping. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt; cut in shortening. Beat egg; add milk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring only until combined. Add remaining 1 cup wheat flakes. Turn into greased 8-inch square pan. Dot marmalade by teaspoons on top of batter; sprinkle with topping. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Serve warm cut in squares.

HONEY APPLES

Select firm, medium-sized cooking apples. Wash and core carefully. Score with sharp knife around center or pare 1 inch of skin from top and place in baking dish. Put 2 or 3 tablespoons of honey in the center of each apple and add enough water to cover the bottom of baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until apples are soft. Serve hot or cold, with or without cream.

(Note: In place of honey, sugar mixed with cinnamon or nutmeg and a few raisins or chopped nuts may be used.)

Fashion

THIS IS A smart and tricky bag for the new season's dressy occasions. Perfect Leg Make-Up

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

EVERYWHERE we go we hear the same story . . . 1945 will be the biggest year ever for leg make-up. There is no quarrel between the cosmeticians who urge strongly the use of leg make-up . . . and the hosiery manufacturers this season.

Matter of fact, the president of a hosiery manufacturing company was recently quoted as advising girls to go barelegged during summer as a patriotic gesture.

We, for one, are ardent in the use of leg make-up. We advance the season well ahead of schedule . . . and tint our legs at the slightest nod from King Sol. It is such a grand feeling, and the legs feel and look so much better for it. Already we've had our share of compliments.

If you had any excuses last season for not wearing leg make-up . . . if you thought it took too long . . . didn't go on evenly . . . it blotched, spotted and streaked . . . and out of sheer despair and disgust you said the heck with it . . . and went barelegged but without the dramatic nylon-loveliness of leg make-up . . . all your worries may this season be tossed into the ashcan.

IT STAYS ON—EVEN IN THE RAIN

For here is a leg make-up that spreads over your legs like melted butter. It doesn't spot in the rain (we had it on the last time it pelted) . . . and it doesn't rub off. It's a smoothie of the first order . . . and a custom-made glorifier for your legs. Pretty soon you're going to be deluged with all sorts of leg make-up on the market . . . but we'd like to tell you about this one ahead of schedule because it REALLY is perfect.

It goes on quicker than a pair of stockings . . . and it stays on . . . even while you shower . . . though we advise fresh application. It comes in two heavenly shades . . . toasted beige and bronze. Now that the warmth is here to stay . . . we hope . . . now is the time to prepare for the coolth and comfort of leg nudity . . . a nudity that is not reflected of white, or gray or red legs . . . or scratched and mosquito-bitten . . . but leg bareness that is model-perfect with the artistic tinting of a superb, creamy, leg make-up. This leg tone is a treasure . . . and don't we need a few these days of uncertainty?

For the name of this superb, creamy leg make-up in luscious shades, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NOT EVEN A BREEZE will tell your secret . . . if you use this super-duper leg make-up that spreads over your legs like melted butter . . . effecting the velvety, sleek smoothness of the nylon past. Blessed or not with legs as beautiful as Columbia Star Janet Blair . . . this leg make-up will make your gams lovelier than they already are.

Brown and White Glamor

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IN THE midst of this navy and black springtime, there come notes of brown which stand out and look very smart. All three basic colors combined with white make outstanding street styles, as you've probably noticed. The most effective of the spring suits are apt to come in checked woolens, and when the checked suit is in brown and white it gets more so.

Such a model is sketched by Miss Dulin. This is a brown and white checked suit from Carl Sidney and it has a box jacket and easy skirt, which looks slim without being tight. There is a sort of scarf-cape in the brown and white checked wool, which can be draped around the shoulders as shown.

A brown jersey blouse goes with the suit, and it is high-necked and long-sleeved.

A Small Reception

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Since my father isn't living and our family purse is very slim, I myself will have to pay all of my wedding expenses. However, my fiance and I would like to have a large church wedding, inviting our relatives and all our friends. Would it be proper to have just a small, informal reception afterward, for our relatives and most intimate friends?—C. A.

Yes, it is entirely proper for you to have a small reception after the ceremony . . . this is indeed often the plan nowadays. And you can plan this with the minimum of expense, serving only, if you wish, your bride's cake and something, perhaps as simple as a fruit punch, with which the guests drink to the happiness of you and your bridegroom.

If this expense is at all a burden to you, remember it isn't ever necessary to have a wedding reception; and instead you might like to consider standing with your bridegroom at the back of the church after the recessional, to greet the guests.

HELP YOURSELF BREAKFAST

Afraid to Tell Wounded Vet

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I'm a girl of 19 years and deeply in love with a boy the same age who is overseas. He will be home soon. He isn't wealthy, but has enough to allow us to live quite comfortably. We want to get married when he comes home.

But I'm engaged to a boy who was wounded early in the war and was sent home. I don't love this boy and told him so but promised to marry him. Now he's almost well, but the doctor says the shock would be too great if I told him at present that I can't marry him. And he said it would take about 18 to 20 months for him to get over it.

Do I dare keep waiting the boy I really want to marry? Shall I tell the wounded boy about him? I. M.

In spite of what your doctor says it would seem that the young soldier, who is "almost well," could stand the shock of being told you no longer love him. What else is to be done? It would be far worse for him if you went through with the ceremony loving someone else. I think it would be wise, when you see the boy you wish to marry, to tell him the truth. Sparing with truth, taking refuge in subterfuges only lands you deeper in your difficulties.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—My husband is serving in the Army and I receive a monthly family allowance of $100 for myself and two children. I have an opportunity to work in a war plant, and the money derived will aid greatly in meeting current household expenses. Would working affect my allotment? G. E. W., Portland, Me.

A—No. Payment of family allowance is made to wife and children of soldier whether or not they are dependent. Any other income you may receive will have no effect on the amount of your allowance check.

Q—My husband entered the Army over two years ago and at that time filed for family allowance. I failed to receive any check for five months, and he notified the Personnel Officer of his outfit of the delay. He was informed that if he (husband) agreed to have five months' deduction from his pay, family allowance would be retroactive to date of entering service. My husband was not in a financial position to have the amount deducted, so application was currently dated, and I lost out on the back payments. Could he seek that money at this late date, as he is now able ot pay his contribution? Q. M., Boston.

A—At the time your husband filed his second application in December, 1942, he could have requested that payment be made retroactive to July, 1942, and it would have been done, providing he had the deductions made from his pay. However, request for retroactive date was not allowed after Dec. 23, 1942, and cannot be submitted now.

Q—If a serviceman's wife gets a divorce, is she still entitled to the allotment until her divorce is final? G. C., Boston.

A—If there is no alimony award, the answer is NO.

Q—My brother has sent a letter from overseas. His address was care of Provost Marshal. Does that address mean that he is in trouble with military police? —S. A., Cambridge.

A—Address given does not necessarily indicate soldier is in difficulty. In absence of further details, it may be assumed that he is engaged in a type of duty that requires his mail to be received through a central office.

Q—My brother has been reported missing in action. He did not have an allotment payable to my mother, as she is not dependent upon me. What happens to his pay now? C. L., Boston.

A—It accrues to his credit. At such time as he is returned to military control, it will be paid to him. If he is declared dead, the accumulated pay will be paid to the next of kin.

Aged Quincy Man Rescued in Swamp

Reported missing by his family, Charles A. Lund, 83, of Harriet ave., in the Montclair section of Quincy, was located before dawn today deep in a marshy spot of land not far from his home.

Cries of the aged man brought Patrolman Warren Corbett to his aid and the officer, removing most of his clothing, waded to his side but found Lund unable to walk.

His call for additional aid brought fire apparatus and the aged man finally was assisted to dry ground and taken to Quincy City Hospital to be treated for exposure. Corbett was relieved from duty after being treated for exposure.

Smart Set — Plan Pops Benefit

By BETTY ALDEN

GAYEST SPRINGTIME events in the Hub are the many Pops benefits at which members of various charity committees get together for a delightful musical evening as well as an opportunity to raise funds for their particular cause.

The Friends of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, as the hospital's ladies' welfare committee is known, are sponsoring the second night at the Pops, May 2. Dorothy Rackemann, popular and able Junior League and Vincent Club executive, is chairman of the Friends' Pops committee with Janet Armitage as vice chairman. They are ably assisted by Mrs. Soma Weiss, president of the Friends; Mrs. George W. Thorn, in charge of subscriptions; Mrs. Palfrey Perkins, tickets; Mrs. Malcolm S. Tobey, publicity; Mrs. B. Devereux Barker, Jr., posters; Sabra Harwood, flowers, and Jane Megrew, treasurer.

Results of their efforts will help support the many projects of the Friends in the interests of the hospital such as increasing the books in the patients' library, the purchase of new medical equipment, redecorating and refurnishing public rooms.

Sponsors of Brigham Night include Mr. and Mrs. William Amory, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Barnes, Miss Lucy Beal, Miss Frances Bowen, Dr. and Mrs. C. Sidney Burwell, Mrs. Horatio Brown, Mrs. Colin Canham, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jefferson Coolidge, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Curtis, Mrs. Elliott Cutler, Col. Robert Cutler and many more.

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM E. WESTON, Mrs. Frederick W. Allison, Mrs. Ernest J. Brown, Mrs. Joseph Broussard and Mrs. Wendell Gray are among those planning the festivities at the season's final tea dance and reception for stage celebrities at the Charlotte Cushman Club tomorrow. Also helping are Mrs. Ralph Worden, Mrs. Henry Porter, Jane Ferguson, Patricia McCrann and Mr. Frank Leighton.

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: Post-deb Mary Helen Brown of Brookline, who is studying voice in New York, came home for the week-end to hear her close friend, Patrice Munsel, sing in "Mignon" at the Opera House. She and the 19-year-old Metropolitan star had a reunion backstage but plans for the informal tea Mary Helen had hoped to give for Patrice and Mrs. Munsel were called off due to the singer's busy rehearsal schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark of Brookline are making a brief visit in Dayton, O., home of several members of Mrs. Clark's family.

Glimpsed Mrs. Prescott Cumner, modish in a tan gabardine suit and perky brown sailor hat, lunching at the Ritz with her house guest, Mrs. James Stearns of Chicago, formerly of Brookline. The attractive visitor was dressed in spring-like green with a matching sailor hat. At a nearby table, Mrs. Irving Badger was lunching with friends and dressed in navy blue with touches of rose on her hat.

Window shopping on Boylston st were Mrs. Charles Irving, whose favorite spring costume is a trim navy suit with matching accessories, and attractive Mrs. James Seaver of Lexington, the former Mrs. Harry Hopewell. She wears a four star service pin in honor of her three sons and one step-son in uniform.

At one of the final performances of Boston's spring opera season—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hornblower, Mrs. Irving Badger with Mrs. Franklin Hobbs, Mrs. Harry Middendorf with Mrs. Thomas Woods, both in colorful spring prints, Mrs. Gould Newell, strolling at intermission

DOROTHY RACKAMANN — Leads committee for Pops benefit.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Fokes, let's really git behind this 7TH WAR LOAN DRIVE! Coz no matter how good things looks now, this old war ain't dead yet and is goin' to involve the sacrifice of a lot more American boys. True enough, they're countin' nine over Germany right now, but the count's been slow and the official kayo is still to come. And sure enough, the Japs are on the run. But they had such a good head start that it's going to take a while, plus too many American lives, before they really git slapped down. And the moral of dis little story is . . . DIS AIN'T NO TIME TO RELAX! Let's all pretend that dis is December, 1941, and Pearl Harbor has jess been attacked. Let's all act like this is the first day on the job, that we've got to put everything we got into each hour, and something extra into each overtime hour. Let's really git out and go to town on that war job to help put over that last punch. And above all, let's get behind this 7th War Loan Drive with every extra penny we can muster. After all, the boys are still in their foxholes, the shells are still whistling by, and Tokyo further than jess around the corner. If the boys can have giving their all out there, we oughta be able to keep pluggin' and buyin' . . . till the end. So buy bonds and more bonds. Ort's Grille and El Tropico. Advt.

Food Probers Start Hearings in Chicago

The House food investigating committee headed by Chairman Anderson of New Mexico, due in Boston April 23 to study the Massachusetts food shortage with special reference to alleged black market operations in meat, began hearings on similar problems in Chicago today.

The Congressional committee will visit Cleveland before coming here, and on April 24 will hold a hearing in Providence.

Tonight

COLONIAL—"OVER TWENTY-ONE," with Ruth Gordon returning in the starring role of her own comedy following a season's run on Broadway and a triumphant Chicago engagement. This is Miss Gordon's first contribution as a dramatist and is a humorous tale of what goes on in a tricky cabin in a Florida auto court concerning an Army-bound editor and his famous writer-wife. Importantly cast are Loring Smith, Millard Mitchell and Carroll Ashburn. Staged by George S. Kaufman.

PLYMOUTH—"KISS AND TELL," George Abbott's production of F. Hugh Herbert's comedy success, in a return engagement with Vera Tatum, Walter Gilbert and June Dayton.

WILBUR—"A DOLL'S HOUSE," Henrik Ibsen's most famous of his famous four women's plays, is being revived by James B. Cassidy. Heading the cast are Frederic Tozere, Dale Melbourne, H. B. Warner, Jane Darwell, Lyle Talbot and Keven McClure.

Continuing

SHUBERT—"GOOD NIGHT, LADIES," Cyrus Wood's adaptation of the old Avery Hopwood farce, "Ladies' Night" is doing excellent business here. Starred are Hollywood's popular Skeets Gallagher, Boston's own Gloria Humphreys and Broadway's delightful Sunnie O'Dea.

April 23

OPERA HOUSE—"BALLET IMPERIAL," "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" and "Gaite Parisienne" will initiate the season of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. The engagement will continue through Saturday evening, with "Mozartiana," "Danses Concertantes" and Scheherazade" the final offerings.

April 24

N. E. MUTUAL HALL—"HAMLET" will open a Tuesday-through-Saturday Shakespearean Festival to be presented by the Boston Tributary Theater in observance of the week of Shakespeare's birthday. "Hamlet" will be repeated on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. "As You Like It" will be presented on Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon, and "Julius Caesar" on Friday evening. All productions are being staged by Eliot Duvey.

May 3

COLONIAL—"MEMPHIS BOUND," co-starring Bill Robinson and Avon Long in the first all-colored musical comedy projected for Broadway this season, opens a 10-day engagement here under John Wildberg's auspices. Vinton Freedley also has a hand in its making and is supervising the production generally. Robert Ross is staging the productive with Eva Jessye assisting. George Jenkins is designing the settings; Lucinda Ballard, the costumes.

Braves' Future Bright As 1945 Season Opens

By JACK CONWAY

THE BASEBALL openings will lack pomp and glamour as a result of the recent death of President Roosevelt, who was America's No. 1 fan, and the fact that the country is at war. There would have been a great deal lacking at the game which was postponed in Washington today between the Senators and Yankees in addition to good ballplayers, while the Boston opening tomorrow with the Braves battling the Giants will also lack color.

Baseball is merely carrying on with the best it has to offer under the most trying conditions. Once more the major leagues will offer what would not have even been good AA minor league ball in the pre-war period. If the clubs furnish close competition, the fans will forget the fact the great stars of the game are in the armed services, and that a very ordinary group of players are carrying on as best they can.

John Quinn

Even in recent weeks, baseball has lost some of its stars to the armed services. The War Department has made it quite clear that ball players who are physically fit must respond to their draft calls. This will mean that 1945 baseball will be carried on by players classified in 4-F, by players over 38 years of age and by service men who have been discharged.

Baseball was permitted to continue during the war on account of the great love the late President Roosevelt had for the game, and his feeling that its continuance contributed to the morale of the country. The late President always emphasized the thought that baseball would have to restrict itself to players above and below draft age and to those who were not physically fit for the the armed services. The former President was too gallant a soldier himself to give any special consideration to men who could take their places in the armed forces.

Aided by Racing Ban

THE LARGE crowds at the exhibition games and the expected big gatherings at the early season contests will be partly the result of the racing ban. Under normal conditions many persons would be attending races during the week. Many of these individuals now go to ball games. They are sports minded, and baseball furnishes them the desired outlet.

I understand that even some of the carefree gamblers may be found at the ball parks each afternoon. They pay to get into the parks and then make a few wagers as they receive the benefit of the sun. The holier than thou baseball people will not admit such a condition exists, but it does regardless of any denials they may wish to make.

In fact I found during a recent visit to Williamsburg, Va., the Colonial capital of Virginia, that gambling was an old fashioned American institution. In one tavern that has been restored by the Rockefeller millions to the way it looked in Colonial days, there were old gambling games on tables. There was one gambling game called "goose" which was much like roulette.

George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry and other early American patriots used to frequent this particular tavern. If one wished, he could also get a drink of liquor, and drop his favorite spice into the drink.

It probably took a little of the old gambling spirit for George Washington to risk his wealth and social position and cast his lot with the Colonials in the Revolution, while there was also a touch of the gambling spirit in Patrick Henry's "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death," speech.

Baseball, however, will continue to shut its eyes to gambling, while it publicly condemns persons who wager $2 on whether a ball player gets a hit or a particular team wins.

Braves Have Future

THE BRAVES under the direction of General Manager John Quinn and Manager Bob Coleman have a future. The club, even without many great players, has shown some flashes of first class baseball so far this year.

Coleman is considered a smart baseball man. He will not make as many headlines as Leo Durocher or some of the more colorful leaders, but he does not need anyone to tell him the answers pertaining to the national pastime.

Boston and New England fans would like to see John Quinn make good as general manager. He received his schooling as secretary with the Red Sox and then with the Braves and later organized the Braves' farm system which was producing such good results when the war started.

With the new owners of the Braves prepared to spend thousands of dollars for needed baseball material when it is available, the Braves may surprise you one of these days and end up in the first division.

Pirates, Browns Top Spring Standings

The Pirates and the Browns turned in the best records of the baseball spring training camp season. The Pirates were unbeaten in six starts while the Browns won 11 of 14.

Braves to Open Season With Crippled Infield

By BILL GRIMES

"Although I expect Tom Nelson and Dick Culler to be in my starting lineup at Braves Field tomorrow against the Giants," commented Manager Bob Coleman today, "I'm keeping my fingers crossed until we break away from the barrier."

"When we returned home last week," continued the Braves' manager, "I thought I was going to show the fans our first varsity infield, which, in my opinion, is a very capable quartet. But no such luck.

"Joe Mack came up with a bad back and missed two games but his substitute, Yin Shupe, did a very fine job. By the time Mack was ready, the weather had become seasonal for New England and I didn't dare risk playing Nelson, who has been troubled with a sore arm all spring. And, yesterday, to cap the climax, Dick Culler up and stops a bunt with his eye and has to retire.

"In the meantime, 'Whitey' Wietelmann is the victim of as odd an accident as I've ever seen and has to have his little finger amputated. That's 'four for five' as the ball player says, but instead of hits it's four men on the injured list in five days. And, that's bad for any manager's blood pressure."

The Braves held a short workout today in preparation for their opener against Mel Ott's Giants tomorrow. But, they did not practice for more than an hour, as Coleman drove them hard last week when the weather was pretty hot and some of the players showed signs of being down.

Tom Nelson will have his ailing arm treated again today. Due to abscessed teeth, which were removed two weeks ago, Nelson's system is full of poison, which, apparently concentrated in his right arm. After he throws for a while, there's a swelling just under his armpit. He was in tough shape the day following the first game with the Red Sox. However, after a five-day lay off, Nelson should be able to go against the Giants.

Culler's eye is badly swollen this morning. And, like Nelson, he is taking treatments today. He should be ready and if he is, the Braves will be able to field their first string infield for the first time since they broke camp at Georgetown University.

Manager Coleman cannot divulge the name of his starting pitcher, due to a new rule, which is intended, but will not, keep information from the gamblers. Al Javery and Nate Andrews are the top ranking hurlers on the morning line.

"Jave" turned in a five-hitter against the Red Sox last Wednesday, without over-exerting himself. Because of that exhibition, he might get the nod to hurl the opener. But, Andrews showed so much stuff while pitching batting practice last Friday that Coleman may give the nod to the South Carolina hurler. During the 40 minutes he was on the mound that day, Andrews displayed as much, if not more, stuff than he has shown since he joined the club two years ago. He was "sneaky" fast and his curve ball, which compares favorably with that of any right hander in the league, was snapping off.

Right now, it looks like Carden Gillenwater will get the centerfield assignment. He hasn't had much chance to show his wares this spring because of a bad hand and a sore leg. However, he came up with three sizzling hits yesterday, which probably will get him the call over Bill Ramsey, who pulled up lame on Saturday.

If Javery is the starting pitcher, Phil Masi will do the receiving, but Clyde Kluttz will be behind the plate, if Andrews is Coleman's choice.

BULLETIN

Charles "Red" Barrett, pitcher, arrived at Braves Field from the Coast today, but revealed that his draft board may call him in a month or so. He left a war plant job to join the Tribe.

Yankees-Nats Game Called Off

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Misty, chilly weather today caused the opening game of the major league baseball season between the Yankees and Senators to be called off.

The game had been dedicated to the memory of the late President Roosevelt and the postponement was made with considerable reluctance. Threats of rain and cold weather hung on during the morning but owner Clark Griffith held off until afternoon to announce the postponement.

Speaker Sam Rayburn was selected to pitch the first ball, marking the first time in baseball history that the honor has gone to a member of Congress. It usually is reserved for the President or Vice President.

The dedicatory ceremonies to Mr. Roosevelt will be carried out Friday when the Senators face the Yankees here

Sox Depart for Yank Opening Tomorrow

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Joe Cronin led his Red Sox to New York today for tomorrow's opener with the Yankees wishing he had another week to experiment before this first league game.

The city series with the Braves revealed (1) that the Sox pitching isn't what it ought to be; (2) the infield still is in a state of flux, and (3) time is needed to repair the hand injury of Tobin, the sore flipper of Christopher and, mayhap, the leg bruise Johnson received in the Sunday game with the Braves at Fenway Park.

The Sox took that Sunday game 6-5, their only victory of the three-game series. That was some satisfaction. Again, they open with the Yanks, whom they recently cuffed around for the Atlantic City championship.

But it was the individual exploits of Culberson more than team play which brought the Sox their Sunday victory, and the Yanks will be much tougher to lick in a championship game than in a pre-season series.

Cronin has been experimenting with his infield the past two weeks. He has had Tobin and Steiner at short, second and third. He himself and rookie Nick Polly also have seen service at third. He still is experimenting. In the Sunday game, Tobin being hurt, he returned Steiner to second, himself to third and had Newsome at short.

"That's the way I'll open against the Yanks," he said today. He added that Rex Cecil, most consistent of the flingers to date, would pitch the opening game. Who'll pitch the second is still a mystery because Jim Wilson, short of work because of his leg injury some weeks back, naturally is short on condition. Nor has Joe Bowmen yet reached his 1944 form.

A chilled gathering of 12,223 paid watched Sunday's game, which enriched the Red Cross fund by $10,000 . . . Culberson batted in the first four Sox runs, scored the fifth which tied the game . . . A double by Fox and single by McBride, who relieved Johnson, clinched it in the ninth . . . Tobin's hand (his right) swelled up mysteriously during pre-game practice. He was to have it X-rayed today . . . The Sox return to Boston after Friday's game.

Rail-Birds Watch Workouts at Downs

By DAVE WILSON

Quite a few rail-birds were at Suffolk Downs this morning to witness the W. W. Adams thoroughbreds in workouts . . . High Fox, Doc Lunt's handicap star, is coming along fast on the comeback trail at Narragansett Park as may be evidenced by a five furlong trial in 1:02.

R. Robertson, trainer of Sam Garfield's large stable, is ill at his home in Pawtucket, R. I. with grippe . . Irving Gushen, who is gathering a good stable, was a visitor to Narragansett Park . . . Lou Smith, general manager of Rockingham Park, entrained to his New York home over the week-end . . . Sam Garfield, the prominent Lynn sportsman, was a visitor at Suffolk Downs this morning.

The more optimistic still say that racing is to receive the go-ahead signal sometime between the 1st and 15th of May . . . The so-called wise gentry are equally emphatic that Narragansett will open on May 2nd and Belmont Park on May 8.

The Lotta Wolf stable, which topped the winners' list at Gulfstream Park, is bedded down at Narragansett Park . . . John J. Halley, whose string is topped by Don Miller, is loud in his praises of his contract rider S. Luce.

Benny Lesser, trainer of the W. Gullatt stable, has six horses quartered at 'Ganett, including First Draft, Boy Angler, Mr. Monk, Clyde Tolson and Seaward Bound . . . Four other Gullatt racers, Navy, Bulldinger, Tamlin and Argo Rouge will be returned from the farm within a few days and placed in training.

Apprentice rider Clarence Roberts was recently rejected by the armed forces and is galloping horses daily at Suffolk Downs . . . A prominent New England owner is dickering for the services of A. Fisher, first-string rider for the Woolford Farm.

Mose Shapoff, one of America's ablest trainers, has the rail-birds in stitches during workout hours at 'Ganett with his funny stories of turf happenings.

Baltimore Sees Racing on May 10

BALTIMORE, April 16 (AP)—A government announcement setting May 10 as the date on which horseracing may be resumed is expected by horsemen before the end of this week, the Baltimore Evening Sun said today.

The Evening Sun, which attributed its report to "an authoritative source," said that none of the turf's leaders wants to be quoted on the matter, but that the order was expected from Fred Vinson, director of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

The newspaper said that if the report proves correct, Maryland probably will have a spring season of 13 to 15 days at Pimlico, and that the Preakness will be run either during that meeting or later, as circumstances permit.

N. Y. Track Lunch Stand Aides Report May 9

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—New York racing offficials would not comment today on the Baltimore Sun story that racing might be resumed on May 10 although they indicated no surprise.

The Associated Press learned that some employes of the Stevens Bros. Catering Co., operators of lunch stands at New York tracks, had been instructed to report for work on May 9.

Arm Still Ailing, Riddle to See Doctor

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 16 (AP)—Elmer Riddle, Reds' pitcher, says he plans to go to Cincinnati soon for an examination of his right arm by the same doctor who operated on it last year.

"My arm feels better than it did last year, but I still cannot throw like I used to," he commented after a workout. He is an industrial recreation director here.

Catcher Cooper May Forfeit $500

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 16 (AP)—Catcher Walker Cooper may forfeit the captaincy of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals if he is not in uniform with the team to open the season tomorrow.

Walker and Mort Cooper, famed brother battery, have announced they will quit the Cardinals unless their 1945 salaries are increased to $15,000.

Unofficial sources say the Red Birds will not have a captain this year if Catcher Cooper is relieved of the post, which pays an extra $500 per year.

The Coopers last month signed 1945 contracts for $12,000, the club's ceiling, and later were offered $13,500 after shortstop Marty Marion's contract had been signed at a figure above the ceiling. Marion's contract is subject to the War Labor Board's approval.

Mulligan Duels Earl Lowman

By BILL SMITH

Jimmy Mulligan and Earle Lowman tangle in a 10-round match at Mechanics Building on Thursday night for the Callahan A. C.

Jimmy, who has always given of his best in local encounters, will be entering the ring fresh from a one-round kayo of Bob Wade a few nights back at Jersey City. This contest showed that the Lowell boy has lost none of his knockout aggressiveness and it looks as though Lowman will have his hands full for the evening.

Jimmy Mulligan

Lowman, on the other hand, has shown remarkable ability for absorbing punishment while he is very capable of dishing it out himself, as Mulligan will well attest. In their last meeting at Braves Field in 1944, both boys hooked up in a battle that found Mulligan on the deck, knocked out, after taking a severe lacing.

Ever since that night Mulligan has wanted another crack at Lowman, but his manager, Bill Daly, is said to have sidetracked the battle. Daly, however, now believes that his protege is ready for the "iron-man" and has given his consent for the return bout, and as usual, Eddie Mack, the top sergeant of the Callahan A. C., was right on the spot to put on the show for the Boston public.

Another Montrealer, Jean Barriere, will attempt to follow in the footsteps of the flashy Gus Mell when he faces Pat Demers in a 10-round bout of a Goodwin A. C. show at the Boston Arena, Friday night.

3 Negro Ballplayers Work Out at Fenway

Three Negro baseball players went through workouts today at Fenway Park, with Joe Cronin, Larry Woodall, Hugh Duffy and others of the Sox official family watching. They were shortstop Jack Robinson, ex-Uclan football and baseball stor; second baseman Marvin Williams of the Philadelphia club in the Negro National League, and outfielder Sam Jethroe of St. Louis, N. N. L. batting champ.

The trio are slated to work out at Braves Field tomorrow.

Those who saw the players said they appeared to have considerable ability. Whether they will be given minor league berths has not been decided.

Sports Assistants Report to McKenney

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Schoolboy sports, silenced in tribute to President Roosevelt this past week-end, will bounce back with one of the liveliest programs of the year, with football, baseball and even outdoor track contributions to the activity.

And on top of it all, the Boston schoolboys will be serving their first time under the new set-up as Bill Ohrenberger and Jimmy Duffy take over new posts today as Joe McKenney's associates.

Ohrenberger, instead of jumping the clock to his madcap baseball and track schedules at Boston English High School, will adjust himself to his new duties on Beacon st. in the school committee headquarters. Duffy will switch his usual route from Jamaica Plain High—which he's been taking for the past 25 years—to the same address. They will hold a press conference tomorrow to outline their plans.

As baseball picks up its pace, football will strive for its place in the spotlight with three big games topping the list. Tonight, at Manning Bowl, Lynn, Coach Nick Morris will send his Lynn English eleven against Coach Buzz Harvey's Nashua, N. H., outfit in a tilt postponed from yesterday. This clash will bring together a pair of former Holy Cross stars who skyrocketed Saugus into the grid skies.

Tomorrow night, Saugus and Peabody will play off their spring exhibition tilt, put off last Friday night. Saturday afternoon, Malden High's Golden Tornado, front runner in the State title chase last fall and considered equally strong this year, will play host to Leominster.

Baseball circuits will be opening on the majority of fronts. Today the Boston schoolboys will get under way.

Red Wings Need '42-Type Miracle

TORONTO, April 16 (AP)—The Maple Leafs faced the disturbing possibility today that this could be the year for the Red Wings to avenge their defeat in the 1942 Stanley Cup final in which the Leafs lost the first three games and then came back to take four in a row to walk off with hockey's world series.

The Wings took the first step in this reversal of the 1942 playoff pattern Saturday night with a 5-3 victory in the fourth game of the 1945 final after losing the first three without scoring a goal.

The Red Wings must win all three remaining games—in Detroit Thursday, in Toronto Saturday and in Detroit again next Sunday—to complete their revenge.

Jim Jeffries Marks 70th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 (AP)—Big Jim Jeffries reached his 70th birthday yesterday. The date was suitably marked at his big barn in Burbank where he conducts weekly amateur fights.

Klem Stays Home After 41 Years

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 16 (AP)—The Old Arbitrator won't be around for the first time in 41 years when the National League resumes operation Tuesday.

Bill Klem, dean of the boys in blue, and for the last four years Ford Frick's supervisor of umpires, plans to get the returns by radio at his home beside Biscayne bay here.

It isn't that he has lost interest. It's just that he has attained the age of 71. As explained by Sports Editor Guy Butler of Miami, he has lost the sight in one eye "and —well, Bill's just getting along, that's all."

He also has reached the point where he doesn't care much about traveling, especially since it is so congested. He likes to putter around in his tool-house and dig in the shrubbery at his home on Venetian Way, or do a little painting on his boat.

Klem explained that Frick had written "that he wants me to 'take it easy' because my health hasn't been too good and also that traveling is very tough these days."

He "worked" a dozen exhibition games last spring, but no more. He did that to prove that "perfect eyesight isn't the major factor in calling 'em right." He didn't tell anyone, until afterwards, that an eye specialist, examining him for new spectacles, discovered he had lost the sight of one eye, thus prescribed only one bifocal lens.

"Nobody noticed the difference in my officiating," he said, "and it bore out my point—that being in position, on top of the play and a few other factors are as important as—maybe more important than—perfect vision."

Klem, who has studied a lot of ballplayers in his time, believes Ty Cobb was the "kingbee all-round ballplayer, but I will say Hans Wagner was the greatest performer at his position. The top pitcher, of course, was Christy Mathewson."

Huge Sports Program Set for Servicemen

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—When the end comes, America's millions of men in Europe will lose no time in swinging over from fighting to athletic competition.

The War Department has at the "kickoff" stage a vast sports program to include every man in uniform. These games may be climaxed by Allied championships that will dwarf the largest of peacetime Olympic games. Such countries as England, France, Poland, Brazil, Australia, New Zealand, Yugoslavia and others probably will compete.

"And we hope that Russia comes in," said Col. Henry W. "Eskie" Clark, formerly of Harvard, head of the athletics branch of the Army Special Services Division under Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron. "When the fighting stops, our men will have leisure time before they are transferred to the Pacific or some come home, and these sports games will keep them interested and in physical trim." A corresponding program will be put into effect for servicemen in this country. After the First World War, servicemen overseas went into tough military training before orders were issued for everybody to participate in athletics, but preliminary arrangements had not been made.

Only the top-level athletes swung into games then, with the great majority left on the sidelines. This time, however, everything is in readiness for everyone to compete.

Schools in Rome and Paris are turning out officers and enlisted personnel in "refresher" courses on athletic administration, training, officiating, coaching, promotional activities and publicity.

More than $7,500,000 worth of equipment already is available for practically every form of athletics, including: Enough baseball uniforms for 15,000 men with additional balls, bats, gloves and the like for 500,000 more players; equipment for 600,000 softball players; complete gear for 700 football squads of 25 men each with 72,000 footballs; basketball uniforms for 5000 teams of 10 men each.

Roller Vanities On

Much greater than ever before, the third edition of the colorful Skating Vanities moves into the Boston Garden this evening and remains through next Sunday night.

In addition to the regular evening performances, there will be special matinees on Saturday and Sunday.

The Sunday afternoon show has been set aside as the Record-American Disabled War Veterans' performance. The entire receipts of the matinee will be turned over to this worthy fund so that every serviceman hospitalized in this area will benefit.

Thus, everybody attending the service matinee will not only be contributing a gift to a grand cause, but they will also see a whale of a show.

SEVERAL NEW STARS

All of last year's favorites are back. Golden, glorious Gloria Nord, Dolly Durkin, Ann Manion, Bobby Johnson, Hugh Thomas, LaVada Simmons, Frank Foster, Lew Testa, Larry Fox, Shirley Hart and Lillian Schroeder will all be on hand.

Then there will be several new stars who are a cinch to click. By the time the Vanities has been here a few days such names as Bobby May, Couni LeRoy, Mickey Meehan and Betty Rick will be as well known as the established stars of last spring.

The smash production number is a circus feature that's terrific. To lend authenticity to the scene, the Herzogs, five lovely trapeze artists who have been starred as circus performers for years, were added to the show.

Naturally, a trapeze act, may seem out of place in a roller show but in this particular circus number, it's not only appropriate but it's spectacular.

All in all, the Vanities is a thriller from start to finish. It's a night of grand entertainment.

Do YOU Own A "Scratching" Dog?

Does your dog constantly scratch, dig and bite himself often until his skin is raw and sore? He may be perfectly clean and flea free, but suffering from an intense itching irritation that has centered in the nerve endings of his skin. He is in torment and can't help scratching—unless you try to help him. Try giving him Rex Hunters Dog Powders, once each week, and note the quick improvement. One owner writes: "If my dog could talk I know he would say thanks for Rex Hunters Dog Powders. He was raw and sore from scratching and just lay around. Now he plays and is full of pep." Ask for Rex Hunters Dog Powders at either Lindiam's Pet Shops, 119 Summer St. or 65 Franklin St. and leading dealers everywhere. Only 25c. (Economy size box for $1.00 only.)

Doctor's Way to Relieve CONSTIPATION Mild Yet So Effective!

Produces More "Natural Like" Bowel Movements

If you feel half-alive, mentally dull, have headaches, upset stomach with gas, bloating due to constipation—don't take harsh, blasting laxatives which often gripe and leave you so weak.

Instead, try this Physician's own purely vegetable formula—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets!

Olive Tablets work so gently—so mildly. Yet see if they don't give you the most thorough, comfortable and more natural-like bowel movements you've ever had. No griping or weakening effects. Just complete satisfaction! So take Olive Tablets tonight to feel bright as a dollar tomorrow. Caution: use as directed. 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

TODAY'S HONOR ROLL OF CASUALTIES

"... Greatness appears in every hour; it rises from the gloom on wings resplendent with a bitter loss. Nothing is now of pettiness or dross, but steadfast, silent payment, Freedom's price, a resolution overmastering doom, and warrior's crown of infinite sacrifice." —(Gorell.)

The War Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 140 casualties in the European and Pacific regions residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.

The list includes 23 DEAD, 97 WOUNDED IN ACTION, 17 PRISONERS OF WAR in Germany, and 3 MISSING.

Next of kin in all cases have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status. In case of divergence between this list and information sent to next of kin, the last War Department telegram or letter to next of kin is the final authority on the status of a soldier.

The Navy Department, also through OWI, announced 15 casualties of the Navy and Marine Corps residing in Massachusetts and Maine.

On to Berlin—German civilians pause amid the ruins of their homes to see a giant eight-inch American gun rumble by on its way to the Berlin front where, today, a tremendous battle for the capital has begun.
